They Battle for Governorships

The battle for the governorship of New York is one of the most interesting of the November elections. Strong vote-getter Gov. Herbert Lehman is running again only because heavy pressure was brought by Democratic chieftains who feared any other candidate might be beaten.

The reason the Democrats feared for the New York governorship was that the Republicans are pushing the sensational young racket-buster Thomas Dewey for the important office. A Dewey victory might foreshadow further political advance. Already there is talk of the presidency.

In Pennsylvania it's close between Arthur James ... and the Democratic nominee, Charles Alvin Jones.

Ohio sees a tossup between Democrat Charles Sawyer ... and the Republican choice, John Bricker.

James Curley, for Democrats in Massachusetts, opposes ... Leverett Saltonstall, who has Townsend backing.

Maryland: against O'Connor, Dem. ... Rhode Island: against Van derbilt, Rep.

Youths Face Robbery Charges

Three Orange county youths charged with committing a dozen robberies in Southern California, three of them in Santa Ana, recently, were remanded to superior court for trial yesterday when they waived preliminary hearing before Justice Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court.

The youths are James M. W. Williams, who led to their arrest because "my conscience hurt"; Willis Harold Walker and Rex Whittemore. The youths victimized three druggists here, a liquor dealer at Buena Park Information against them will be filed next Friday in superior court prior to setting of a trial date.

STATE BALLOT RECORD SEEN

Record Vote Looms In County As Thousands Flock To Polls

With the vote soaring above 30 per cent of the total registration in Santa Ana elsewhere in Orange county at noon today, the current election promised to smash all prior voting records of the county, including the 80 per cent vote of four years ago.

At 11:30 a. m. a check of 20 Santa Ana precincts, out of a total of 71, showed that approximately 1500 ballots had been cast by a total registration of about 5500. Inasmuch as an ordinary election shows about ten per cent voted by noon, it was apparent that the county's 75,000 voters were out for a new record today.

34 Per Cent

Even heavier voting was in progress outside of Santa Ana, about 34 per cent being polled at the same hour.

Totals are expected to surge upward during the usual noon-hour rush, and in the late hours of afternoon, when the heaviest voting usually occurs.

Of the 20 Santa Ana precincts checked, No. 8 at Lathrop school, showed one of the highest vote percentages at 11:30, with 103 cast out of 320 registered. In No. 28, where 121 were registered, 53 had voted. In No. 33, there were 79 votes cast, the total registered being 240.

No. 41, at Lowell school, reported 92 out of 282. At No. 47, the city water works, there were 89 out

S. A. LAWYER LINKS GREEN TO PAMPHLET

Lagging interest in the "Pools Rush In" conspiracy court hearing was stung to alertness yesterday afternoon when Joel Ogle, Santa Ana candidate for district attorney at the primary, testified that J. Malcolm Green, editor of a Santa Ana weekly newspaper, who is among the accused defendants, once said his paper was printed in the Independent Press Room, Los Angeles, where the pamphlet, "Pools Rush In," was printed.

Ogle's testimony, which included an asserted conversation with Green, in which Green asked him, in effect, what he could safely print about the character of individuals, brought a storm of heated cross-examination about his ears, from the defense lawyers, who earlier had sought to block his testimony on the ground that, since Green had been a client of Attorney Ogle, in incorporation proceedings, any statement by Green to Ogle was "privileged" and could not be revealed.

Ogle declared that the statements of Green had nothing to do

Loyalists Begin Counter Drive

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontiers, Nov. 8.—(UP)—The Spanish Loyalists, after withstanding nine days of a frontal attack on the Ebro river, struck back at the Nationalists today with offensives on two fronts and a big scale airplane raid.

While the Nationalists were taking the key town of Mora de Ebro on the Ebro river in Eastern Spain, the Loyalists started surprise offensives in force 40 miles to the north, on the Segre river near Lerida, and 90 miles to the south, on the coastal front near Mataro and south of Castellon de la Plana.

The Loyalists asserted that they made considerable gains on both fronts and took prisoners and war materials. Their communiqués indicated that the offensives were still in progress and that their men were advancing.

Election "Steal" Story Retracted

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 8.—(UP)—Arizona's confused election eve charges by a former Kansas City Mo., resident that he attempted to "steal" last September's Democratic gubernatorial primary were retracted today in an admission that the story was a hoax.

The sensational affidavit was filed by Ronald Ross, 39-year-old election board worker, who said he altered ballots and arranged for "30 Kansas City men and women" to change votes in a supposed election to help R. T. Jones, state senator, win the nomination for governor of Arizona.

Questioned for three days by sheriff's officers and by Joe Conway, attorney general, Ross made a new affidavit "in the interest of justice" saying he did not directly or personally talk with Jones nor did he alter any of the primary ballots.

MILLIONS TO CAST VOTES

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(UP)—The nation voted today in an off-year general election in which vital scattered races were so close that the luck of rain or sunshine may determine the winners.

Weather forecasts were moderately unfavorable to Republicans along the mid-Atlantic coast and westward into the plains states. The forecasts for these areas included clouds, rains and snow.

Weather Conscious

New York politicians were especially weather conscious. In rural upstate, rain might keep many a GOP vote away from the

JAPAN TO REVEAL OPEN DOOR POLICY

TOKYO, Nov. 8.—(UP)—Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita was understood today to be preparing a statement declaring that Japan will welcome the principle of the open door in China and equal economic opportunity for all, providing the powers recognize Japan's dominant position in Eastern Asia.

The statement was expected to be made tomorrow, when the foreign minister returns from a visit to Nagoya. It will be an elaboration of the government's recent declaration of policy, in which Japan's priority of interest in the Orient was set forth and a policy of a three power coalition of Japan, Manchukuo and China announced.

Build New Order

The official Domei News agency in a forecast of Arita's announcement said the powers will be expected to cooperate with Japan, China and Manchukuo in building up the new order in the East.

The observer said Japan is ready to request legitimate British rights with the same indispensable condition, namely, recognition of Japan's dominant position. He specifically mentioned that foreign investments would be welcomed under that condition.

Tight Race Seen As Kansans Vote

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 8.—(UP)—The first scattered returns tabulated in Kansas today indicated an exceedingly close contest in the featured gubernatorial and senatorial races with the Democratic candidates having a slight advantage.

The weather was crisp and fair and Kansans, resentful of the low price of wheat, went to the polls in large numbers. A total vote of 700,000 was indicated.

Gov. Walter A. Huxman was the early pace setter in the first few precincts. Incomplete, tabulated by the double election boards before noon, Governor Huxman, Democrat seeking reelection, is opposed by Payne Ratner. The popular issue of the New Deal farm program is the principal issue in the Senatorial contest between George A. McGill, the Democratic incumbent, and co-author of the farm act, and Clyde M. Reed, a former governor of Kansas. McGill was trailing in most of the first precincts to report but the vote was very close.

EXPULSION OF FOREIGN JEWS BY NAZIS SEEN AS "REPRISAL"

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—(UP)—Anti-Jewish demonstrations broke out in Vienna and elsewhere in Germany today in reprisal for the shooting of Ernst Von Rath, third secretary of the German embassy in Paris, by a 17-year-old Polish Jew.

Some well informed quarters believed that anti-Jewish demonstrations had occurred at Kassel and at Bebra in front of Jewish shops and synagogues. At Kassel, show windows of several Jewish shops were broken. Several members of a shouting crowd entered the Kassel synagogues and tore down furnishings.

Demand Action

Der Angriff, Berlin organ of the Labor front, demanded "the sharpest measures against Jews, especially foreign Jews, in Germany." A front page two line banner read,

British King To Visit FDR

LONDON, Nov. 8.—King George announced to Parliament today that he had accepted an invitation from President Roosevelt to visit the United States during his Canadian tour next spring.

Addressing the Houses of Lords and Commons from his throne in the Lord's Chamber, to open a new session, the king announced: "I have been happy to accept an invitation extended to the queen and myself by the President to visit the United States of America before the conclusion of my Canadian tour."

First Visit

It will be the first visit by a reigning British monarch to the United States.

The Daily Mail asserted that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain might accompany the king and queen.

The king's announcement that he would visit the United States came immediately after a reference to his Canadian tour.

VALENCIA PACKING SEASON NEAR END

Valencia orange shipments are drawing to a close in the vicinity of Valencia, it was announced this morning. According to C. E. Skiles, secretary and manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange, while local shipments, chiefly along the coast, probably will be made for some time, the Valencia season had closed so far as eastern shipments are concerned.

The Santiago Orange Growers association are closing the packing season today. The Consolidated Orange Growers will continue packing for several days. The Olive Heights Citrus association also finished packing operations today. Other houses finished packing recently.

Arizonans In Bitter Battle

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 8.—(UP)—A bitter Arizona gubernatorial battle today overshadowed all other contests as more than 100,000 voters went to the polls to decide the issue.

The polls opened at 6 a. m. with an unusually heavy rush of voters reported at most of the state's 433 precincts.

The gubernatorial race was between R. T. Jones, Democrat; Jerome W. Lee, Republican, and James H. Kerby, Independent Democrat. Kerby, although defeated by Jones in the Democratic primary, contested the vote with charges of fraud and bribery and entered his name on the ballot for the second time.

Democrats were favored to sweep every state and national office, outnumbering the Republicans eight-to-one.

CANDIDATE DIES

EMPORIA, Kan., Nov. 8.—(UP)—Rolla A. Evans, a Republican justice of the peace for many years, died today just before the polls opened for voters to ballot on his candidacy for another term.

His death meant that many voters would cast their ballots for a dead man. He had been favored to be reelected.

Heated Campaigns End

DR. TOWNSEND BLASTS DOWNEY; CHARGES BETRAYAL OF TRUST

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—(UP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, in a message broadcast last night from Des Moines, Iowa, blasted Sheridan Downey, Democratic candidate for U. S. Senate, for "betraying the trust we impose in him."

The broadcast originated in Des Moines, Iowa, was "piped out" to the Mutual Broadcasting System in California and presented as a transcribed program to California only at 10:15 p. m.

It was delivered in Des Moines by Roy J. Webb, personal aide of the aged founder of the Townsend $200 a month plan, who said Dr. Townsend would have given it personally had he not been delayed by a snow storm while traveling from Grinnell, Iowa, to Des Moines.

Webb read from a speech he said was prepared by Dr. Townsend in which the latter said in part: "I have just learned that Sheridan Downey has come out in support of the $30 every Thursday pension plan. In view of what our organization has done for Mr. Downey, if this is true, we can only regard it as a betrayal of the trust we impose in him. I must herewith withdraw my endorsement of Downey for United States Senator."

NAMED TO ACADEMIES

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—(UP)—Appointment of Fred B. Waters Jr. of San Mateo and Kirby A. Gean of Fresno to West Point and Morgan L. Brett of Palo Alto to Annapolis was announced today by Sen. William G. McAdoo, Jonathan S. Vandemark of Altadena and William R. Stewart Jr. of Glendale are West Point alternates. Donald A. Hempsen of Alameda, Elwood E. Nutt of Anaheim and Louis T. Seith of San Diego are Annapolis alternates.

Register To Give Election Returns

In an effort to give unprecedented fast and accurate service to the public on election returns in today's statewide balloting, The Register has combined the entire facilities of its office and that of the local radio station KVOE.

There will be a representative of The Register staff at each of the 246 precincts in Orange county shortly after the polls close at 7 p. m. As soon as first totals are available, they will be telephoned to The Register's office, and relayed promptly to KVOE, where the running totals will be broadcast at frequent intervals.

Any person desiring any information concerning election results and events may obtain it by telephoning 6121, 6122, 6123 or 6124, or by tuning in on KVOE and keeping the dial there from 8 p. m. until final totals are available.

70 PER CENT VOTE LOOMS

By John (Sky) Dunlap
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—(UP)—California's largest vote in history was predicted today as the electorate decided the fate of a $30 every Thursday pension plan and decreed whether the Republican state administration should remain in office.

At least a 70 per cent vote was expected by election officials as the result of New Deal endorsements from Washington, renewal of the 1934 liberal-conservative battle, nationwide interest in the "ham and eggs" pension and strife in the ranks of labor. The weather forecast was "fair and mild."

G. O. P. Confident

An unprecedented margin of 850,000 Democrats gave the Bourbons hope that the 45 year reign of Republican governors would end with victory for State Senator Culbert L. Olson over bald Governor Frank F. Merriam. Republicans were confident Merriam could offset the 2 to 1 Democratic edge as he did against a smaller margin in 1934, when he defeated Socialist Upton Sinclair.

Betting odds were reported even on the gubernatorial race. The pension plan outcome was almost unpredictable, although betting commissioners quoted two to

FACES COURT FOR ATTEMPTED MURDER

La Verne Holmes, 22, Costa Mesa man who assertedly shot his girl wife, Virginia, with a .33 caliber revolver after kidnapping her Saturday night and taking her on a wild drive to Talbert by way of Costa Mesa, faces preliminary hearing next Monday at 9 a. m. in Santa Ana justice court. He is charged with attempted murder. The two counts of kidnapping and one count of burglary filed against Holmes when he was first arrested were held in abeyance. Holmes appeared before Justice Kenneth Morrison here yesterday for arraignment.

Condition Better

Mrs. Holmes' condition at Santa Ana Valley hospital was reported "good" today. Mrs. Holmes, 16, divorced Holmes on grounds of cruelty last Friday, charging he caused her to give birth to their four-months-old daughter, Barbara Jean, prematurely. She and a friend, Miss Edmoney Gaines, Greenville, were sitting in a locked house at 1628 West Ninth street, Saturday night, visiting when Holmes suddenly appeared in the room. He had entered by a window after removing the screen, the girl said.

Assertedly kidnapping both, he drove to Costa Mesa, ordered Miss Gaines out and told her he "won't hurt Virginia much—it'll all be over in a moment." He said he was sorry to make Miss Gaines walk. An hour later, Holmes drove to the hospital with his wife. She has bullet holes through her breast, forearm, chest and back where two bullets entered and exited. He said the shooting was accidental.

Haight Named To L. A. Commission

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—(UP)—Raymond L. Haight, inactive progressive candidate for governor, was a member today of "reform" Mayor Fletcher Bowron's new police commission.

Also appointed was Dr. John P. Buckley, 1934 county grand jury foreman and a former president of the American Dental Association, appointment was devoid of political significance "except that in expressing a willingness to work on the police commission Mr. Haight told me he is no longer in the race for governor." Haight released his supporters because he lacked campaign funds.

Pair Face Bogus Money Charges

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 8.—(UP)—Henry A. Fisher, 23, and Margaret Louise Conrad, 25, accused of being involved in a west coast counterfeiting ring, will be taken to Los Angeles this week to stand trial. U. S. Commissioner Maurice Pope said today.

They were ordered held in default of $2500 bond at their arraignment before Pope. Federal agents said that Miss Conrad and Fisher had several bogus $5 federal reserve notes in their possession when they were arrested.

TELLS RULE ON RIPE AVOCADOS

A special bulletin telling some of the methods of determining maturity from immature avocados was released today by County Agriculture Commissioner Dixon Tubbs. Tubbs took this action as the result of the 46 mile an hour desert wind during the week-end that in certain localities blew off 25 per cent of the coming avocado crop.

"In past seasons such emergencies have caused flooding of the fresh fruit market with many immature and unpalatable fruits," Tubbs said. "Unfortunately, it is difficult to separate the fruit on appearance alone, especially where the stem is not present as an indicator."

Shows Yellow Color
"With many of the dark colored Mexican varieties, partially colored fruit will eventually reach satisfactory maturity. The Mexican varieties that are still green when mature should show a yellow or cream color breaking through the green."

"In the case of Fuertes, a positive decision is much more difficult but in those fruits where the stem is still attached it should show a recent enlargement and cream or yellow color."

"A fairly good test to use on all fruits is to cut the fruit trans-

ANAHEIM PASTOR'S SUIT IS APPEALED

Suit brought against the Rev. Harney M. McGeehee, pastor of the Church of Christ in Anaheim, for his alleged failure to pay a note of $305, was appealed to superior court yesterday by A. B. McGeehee, plaintiff in the action.

The Rev. Mr. McGeehee claimed that he had paid the note and interest, and in Santa Ana justice court, where Attorney James L. Davis represented him as counsel, the suit was denied some time ago.

A. B. McGeehee had asked $397.53, including interest since 1934, when the note was executed. The note had been given to J. B. McGeehee, father of the plaintiff, at Van Buren, Ark. The Rev. Mr. McGeehee claimed that he gave J. B. McGeehee an assignment of a lease upon a dwelling near Seminole, Oklahoma; that the assignment was accepted, but the note was not returned to the minister.

Arthur Campbell, assistant farm advisor, San Bernardino county, spoke on the use and management of pastures as a means of reducing dairy costs. He pointed out that in San Bernardino county one acre of good pasture would normally provide adequate roughage for one mature animal for 12 months. Pastures provided a means of reducing feed costs. They should be fertilized and irrigated regularly if the best results are to be secured.

Factors entering into the cost of producing market milk were pointed out by Wallace Sullivan, farm management specialist, University of California. Recommendations to the State Dairy Department, reported by E. A. Wakeham, vice-chairman of the State Dairy Department, included legislation which would tend to stabilize market milk prices and permit the continuance of state supervision of tuberculosis testing, and payment of indemnities. Cecil Marks, secretary, Orange County Farm Bureau, reviewed the legislative measures appearing on the ballot.

Doctors Dictator

American doctors at the Interstate Postgraduate Association meeting at Philadelphia learned that Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany is a "good patient," but one who may ignore his doctor's orders. Dr. Carl von Eicken, above, representing the University of Berlin Medical School at the convention, told them he once performed a minor operation on the Fuehrer's vocal chords, was highly alarmed when Hitler failed for fourteen hours to rally from a morphine sleep. He said Hitler made him postpone the operation several times because it interfered with speaking engagements.

LOCAL FIRE EATERS AID OTHER COUNTIES

Orange county fire fighters have been called to fight fires in San Diego and Riverside counties, it was reported today by Joe Scherman, state forest ranger, with headquarters in Orange.

Elmer Osterman, assistant ranger, and 75 CCC boys from the camp at San Clemente were sent to fight a San Diego county blaze, while Rollo Hazeltine and two assistants were dispatched to Riverside county to help battle a fire.

The state truck at Costa Mesa was called to extinguish a grass fire at Costa Mesa yesterday, two acres being burned over. The state truck from Midway City extinguished a fire at Bolsa Chica road and Hill avenue yesterday morning.

WINDBREAKS IN COUNTY PROVE WORTH IN RECENT DUST STORM

"This week's windstorm again brings attention to the value of windbreak protection," Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg said today, following a survey through the county in connection with wind damage in citrus and avocado orchards.

"The thousand miles or more of windbreaks planted in Orange county is becoming more effective each year as the hedge of trees increase in height."

The survey revealed a great contrast in the number of windfall fruits between protected and unprotected orchards. Where exposed dropped a hundred fruits or more, protected trees in the same district showed an insignificant drop of a dozen or so fruits. Wind-scarring of fruit and defoliation of trees was noticeably less behind windbreaks as compared to open orchards.

Eucalyptus windbreaks provide the best protection generally, because of their rapid rate of growth and their height. The ideal windbreak for Orange county conditions, according to the farm advisor, is the combination planting of the Bluegum (Eucalyptus globulus) and the Forbes cypress as a filler. The Forbes cypress is a comparatively new variety in the use of cypress for windbreaks. It replaces the formerly used Monterey cypress which has proven very susceptible to the Coryneum fungus and bark beetle.

The compacta Eucalyptus has also been adapted to filling in between the tall bluegums.

Records of a previous survey made by the farm advisor's office following the heavy wind of October, 1935, showed that 20 protected Valencia orchards produced an average of 328 field boxes per acre as compared with 214 field boxes per acre in 20 similar orchards unprotected. The protected orchards packed out 117 boxes of first grade fruit, while the unprotected orchards packed out only 54 boxes of first grade fruit. Similar results from windbreak protection in lemon orchards was noted in the same survey.

Your linens, too, stay cleaner in "Natural Gas towns"

If you have lived in cities where natural gas is not available, you know how much easier it is to keep things clean in Southern California.

Here practically everyone relies on natural gas. And no chimney using natural gas exclusively ever smokes.

Of course, this quality of your household fuel wouldn't mean so much if cleanliness were the only important characteristic. But the advantages of natural gas go beyond cleanliness. It excels all other energies in every way, particularly in that it gives dependable, intense heat at lowest cost!

These advantages are most important when you remember that the new gas appliances bring marvelous convenience plus beauty of design. Why not look over the newest appliances at a dealer's or the gas company? Ask about the easy payment plans.

HANDBILL GROUP'S REPORT IS APPROVED

Not in accord with the desires of those who petitioned for repeal of Santa Ana's handbill ordinance, city council last night unanimously approved a committee of the whole recommendation that "if any change in the present ordinance be made, it would be to strengthen rather than repeal the ordinance."

The handbill ordinance, to prohibit the free distribution of handbills, circulars, etc., was adopted, the council reported, to eliminate nuisances created by the free distribution. Council acted last night in refusing to repeal the ordinance on a motion made by Councilman Ernest H. Layton seconded by Councilman William Penn.

No persons appeared last night to protest against a change in the ordinance nor to ask that it be retained as it is. A petition contain-

MANY CITE REASONS FOR COURT ACTIONS TO GAIN SEPARATIONS

Mrs. Florence M. Trickey, who lived less than a year with Clarence V. Trickey after their marriage in Santa Ana last December 21, today had filed suit in superior court for divorce, alleging that the bridegroom told her he married her only because she "had a closet full of clothes, a pink slip to an automobile, and he had a chance to go with her on a trip to Kentucky."

Since their marriage, she has supplied practically all the funds for their support, the wife alleged. They separated last Wednesday, in Long Beach with her sister, Dorothy, who had caused trouble between the couple, Marks asserted. They married at Kingman, Arizona, last May 20 and separated a little more than three weeks later, on June 15.

Separated in August
Laurence J. Boling charged cruelty in a divorce complaint filed against Sadies M. Boling, whom he married at Coatsburg, Ill., October 19, 1913. They separated last August 23.

Mrs. Ruby Matta, plaintiff against Jack Matta in a divorce action, charged desertion, nonsupport and habitual intemperance. They married in Santa Ana, April 20, 1934, and separated June 29 that year.

Four Held As Drunk Drivers Are Booked at Jail

Four persons charged with drunk driving were booked at county jail today. Mrs. Arlene Mackre, 34, Long Beach, arrested late yesterday by Vernon Barnhill, highway patrol officer, refused to sign her name when booked at the jail, officials reported. She was arrested in Seal Beach.

Henry Reader, 25, Norwalk, arrested by Fullerton police, was sentenced to serve 371-2 days while C. A. Coffman, 38, Route 4, Anaheim, arrested by Anaheim officers, went to jail for 125 days. Richard Wilde, 40, Eagle Rock, arrested at Hobart and Main by Officers W. H. Heard and George Boyd who responded to a citizen's complaint relayed by police radio, was jailed at 4:35 p. m. He was charged with speeding 40 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone, found "moderately" intoxicated.

S. A. Lawyer In Pamphlet Hearing

with Ogle's employment, and, at the time, asserted that he would refuse to answer any questions involving matters which Ogle considered confidential.

Attorney Ellis, representing the accused printers, and W. M. Burke, of counsel for Green, clashed with Ogle after the testimony regarding Green's alleged disclosure to Ogle. Ellis demanded whether Grech had come to Ogle to discuss matters connected with Ogle's employment as his attorney.

"No," said Ogle, "he came there to discuss a scandal about reputable citizens of Orange county."

"Were you employed for that, too?" asked Ellis.

"No, snapped Ogle, "were you?"

Denies Assertion
At another point Ellis asked why Ogle had reported the conversation to the district attorney, and wanted to know if Ogle hadn't been merely trying to link Green to the case, which Ogle denied.

"You did consider, did you, that his statement linked Green to this case?" inquired Ellis.

"That and several other things I heard," said Ogle. "Would you like to hear them?"

Ellis hesitated, and a spectator emitted a loud "A Ha." When rebuked, he repeated with another "A Ha," and again "A Ha-a-a!"

"Well," retorted Ellis, "is there any more confidential information of your client you want to reveal, I suppose we might as well have it."

"I object to that as sarcasm," said Ogle.

"Freezes Up"
Assistant District Attorney Preston Turner then inquired of Ogle regarding the "other statements" mentioned, but Ogle froze up and declared he would refuse to answer any questions in a crowded courtroom, no matter what the court might rule. He was willing to tell the court in private, he said. But in public, he explained, his testimony would only hurt somebody.

Turner withdrew his question and asked for a recess, to learn what Ogle's information might be, before deciding whether to insist on having it. The recess was declared. After court resumed, Justice C. P. Pann ruled that Ogle's statements would not be received.

Attorney Burke then launched an attack on the witness's testimony and before long the two attorneys, one on the witness stand, were fairly bellowing at one another.

Told Others
Burke named a number of persons, to whom he claimed Ogle had stated that he, Ogle, had divulged information which brought Green into the case. Ogle admitted that he might have told others.

Burke then showed the witness a copy of Green's paper, the Santa Ana Bee, and asked Ogle if he had seen it before. Ogle said he had not.

"Is that statement as true as anything you've said on the stand today?" demanded Burke.

"That," said Ogle, "is absolutely true, and if you're trying to infer otherwise, you know better."

Charles Ott, another defendant, obtained from Ogle the statement that Ogle did not think Ott was involved in the conspiracy.

Lousy Pamphlet
When Ogle referred to the "lousy pamphlet," Ott asked him if he meant the portion referring to himself. Ogle replied that the portion referring to himself was "about right, much as I don't like it." He referred to pamphlet reference to Ogle as young and inexperienced.

Ogle started a declaration that the pamphlet tended to tear down democracy, when the court interrupted with the comment that "There is nothing quite so eloquent in this court as 'yes' and 'no'."

Mrs. Barbara Metz, who had been employed by Green for about a month, testified regarding typewriters in Green's office, and having seen Green with a roll of bills. She also told of a man whom she named as either "Shaner" or "Shader," who held mysterious conversations with Green in a back room or outside in a car.

Ott asked her if she'd ever seen him and she said, "yes, I think so," apparently believing he had been to Green's office as a candidate for office. Later she admitted she might have been thinking of somebody else.

John Harris, Los Angeles handwriting expert was back on the stand briefly, reviewing his former testimony regarding typewriters used in preparing the pamphlet manuscript. In response to Ott's question, he again said that the "guilty" typewriter had not yet been discovered.

The hearing then recessed to tomorrow at 10 a. m.

After keeping official circles in suspense until the last minute, wondering whether the grand jury would file its report on the pamphlet, "Fools Rush In" before election, that body met briefly yesterday afternoon, then adjourned without action.

70 Per Cent Vote In State Seen

one odds against passage. More than $300,000 was spent by pension promoters, who used neon lighted sound trucks to urge the state's large elderly population to contribute pennies and dimes to the cause. The plan provides payments of $30 in state warrants to all unemployed persons over 50.

"Ham and Egg"
Sheridan Downey, running mate with Sinclair four years ago and now Democratic nominee for the Senate, was the focal point of the "ham and egg" controversy. Downey befriended the pensioners to register a stunning upset over veteran William Gibbs McAdoo in the primaries. Since then he has been attacked by Philip Bancroft, his Republican opponent, for "straddling" a definite statement of policy.

The state continued to speculate whether Downey flatly endorsed the plan in a crowded rally of pension backers in Hollywood. The Republican Los Angeles Times quoted a stenographic report of his speech to the effect he urged support of the "ham and egg" proposition, No. 25 on the ballot.

Proposal Attacked

Bancroft has joined Merriam in attacking the pension proposal from the outset, claiming it was "fantastic" and would bankrupt the state. He urged a national plan to ease the burden on the aged, while Merriam has supported the Townsend plan as a basis for national aid to the older population. Downey has made similar statements. He was a former attorney for the $200 per month Townsend plan. Dr. F. E. Townsend, the founder, has denounced the "Thirty Thursday" plan.

Congressional fights loomed in 17 of the state's 20 districts. Three Republican incumbents were returned to office at the primary, reducing the competitive contests to 13 Democrats and one Republican seeking reelection.

Republicans had an almost clean sweep of state contests. Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan and Controller Harry Riley had two minor party nominees on the ballot while Earl Warren was almost conceded the attorney general post after winning the Republican, Democrat and Progressive nominations.

President Roosevelt and Postmaster General James Farley endorsed the entire Democratic slate. Federal Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins and Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes made personal visits to the west.

Blessed by F.D.R.
Roosevelt was plain spoken when he commented that it was nationally important "that a liberal like Olson rather than a reactionary be in the state house at Sacramento and that a liberal like Downey rather than a reactionary speak the voice of California in the Senate of the United States."

Supporting McAdoo before the primaries, Roosevelt attacked the "Thirty Thursday" plan as a "shortcut to Utopia." Other federal officials added their criticism of the "funny money" proposition. Olson, Downey and Assemblyman Ellis Patterson, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, visited Roosevelt in the White House shortly after their primary victories.

Charge Radicalism
Dr. Walter Scott Franklin, retired Santa Barbara physician-farmer, who was a surprise Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, was a 10 to 8 favorite over Patterson but the contest admittedly was a tossup. This race originated the "radical and red" charges hurled at the Democrats by the Republicans.

The liberalism charges were climaxed when the Democrats denied testimony before the Dies committee in Washington that they were Communists or were influenced by the Communist party. Harper Knowles, American Legionnaire, who made the sensational accusations, was sued for damages brought by Patterson and John Geo. Clark, Democratic chairman. Patterson asked $100,000.

Merriam's continued criticism of the Committee for Industrial Organization as "Communistic" led to a bitter labor controversy. John L. Lewis gave the Democrats a CIO-endorsement and President William L. Green of the American Federation of Labor took Merriam. Green's action brought protest from many coast AFL leaders. Olson claimed a large AFL following despite Green's stand.

Millions to Vote In 47 States

polls and perhaps determine whether the Democratic party retains or the Republican party wins the governorship. That is the grand prize in the election sweepstakes.

Election day rain or snow generally is counted a handicap to Republicans in the big industrial states where the New Deal-Democratic party finds its greatest strength in urban areas.

Polling took place in 47 states to complete the national referendum on the New Deal begun Sept. 12 in Maine.

Depression Factor

Business depression as a political factor has jumped the fence this time. Republicans sought to put Democrats on the defensive for the slump of 1937-38.

President Roosevelt will vote and await returns at his Hyde Park, N. Y., home, confident that the electorate will give the New Deal-Democratic party a fourth consecutive endorsement. He was wearing an Andrew Jackson watch chain for luck.

As the polls opened the forecast was for:

1. Republican Senate, house and gubernatorial gains to end a 10-year period of consecutive Democratic expansion.

2. Possible delineation of a "conservative" trend away from the New Deal.

498 Major Offices

A big but not necessarily majority vote for various plans to hike old age pension payments.

There are 498 major offices—congressional and gubernatorial—at stake of which Democrats now hold 383 and Republicans 94 with other parties and vacancies accounting for the remainder.

Maine's September election did not change party standings. Republicans retained the governorship and the house delegation of three. There was no senatorial contest.

Today's election will set up the 76th Congress which will meet Jan. 3.

Principal Republican gains are forecast in New England, middle Atlantic and north central states.

Comeback Trail?
Depressed crop prices, the 1937-38 business slump, continued large scale unemployment and a possible reaction against New Deal plans to reorganize the judiciary and methods of dealing with acute labor problems are factors suggesting that the GOP may find the beginning of the comeback trail.

But more than mere gains will be necessary to establish a significant Republican upturn. The average off-year shift in the house from the majority to minority party is 50 seats. The GOP must thrust well beyond that number and gain a handful of Senate seats to justify burning more than a dime's worth of political red fire.

Governships offer a better field for conclusive Republican victories. Substantial gains in all categories would mark a spectacular comeback.

TUBERCULOSIS FIGHT AIDED IN FILM AND LECTURE AT SCHOOL

An all-day program of motion pictures and lectures on modern methods of halting the spread of tuberculosis was presented to members of science classes at the Santa Ana High school yesterday.

Miss Beatrice Woodward, field representative of the California Tuberculosis association, made hourly talks during the day, and Mrs. Edna Crawford, executive secretary of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, showed sound motion pictures.

Message of Health

A message of health was given to several hundred students by Miss Woodward, who stressed in her talks that tuberculosis, which now kills 76,000 people annually in the United States, is curable if it is found early enough. She emphasized that the disease is communicable, and urged everyone to take the tuberculin skin test to help in the drive to prevent, control and eventually eradicate tuberculosis.

Miss Woodward also pointed out that the entire campaign to rid the nation of tuberculosis is financed through the sale of the Christmas Seals. The sale will be launched at Thanksgiving time, and money derived from the sale remains in the county where the seals are sold.

Four Authorities

The motion picture shown was "Diagnostic Procedures in Tuberculosis," the first movie of its kind in sound produced by the National Tuberculosis association. Four authorities on tuberculosis do the talking in the medical film. They are Dr. Kendall Emerson, managing director of the National Tuberculosis association, New York; Dr. Ralph S. Muckenfuss, director of the Bureau of Laboratories of the New York City Department of Health; Dr. Edmund R. Long, director of the Henry Phipps Institute, Philadelphia; and Dr. Edgar Mayer, assistant professor of medicine, Cornell Medical college, New York. Viewing the film is equivalent to attending a clinic and receiving expert counsel on the diagnosis of tuberculosis.

Late yesterday afternoon members of the Orange County Public Health Nurses' association and emergency teachers of the county also attended one of the programs held in the Little Theatre in the high school.

BUILDING UP IN COUNTY AREAS

An increase in building in the unincorporated areas of the county of $28,278 during the month of October over the previous month failed to compensate for a drop in Santa Ana's building of more than $33,712 with the result that building in the county fell more than $60,000 during this month.

Total for the month of October from 12 incorporated districts and the county building department was $451,673 as compared with $512,734, a check by the publicity department of the Orange County Builders Exchange revealed today. Seven communities in the county showed a slight increase in building over the month of September, the Exchange figures show. However, the larger cities of the county had sharp declines over the previous month.

Following is a table showing a comparison of values of permits issued during the months of September and October:

Community	Sept.	Oct.
Anaheim	$2,721	$3,495
Brea	7,870	12,400
Fullerton	34,315	24,044
Huntington Beach	11,201	12,281
Laguna Beach	32,000	37,450
La Habra	90,000	2,275
Newport Beach	54,530	32,985
Orange	20,483	13,990
Placentia	4,725	5,000
San Clement	60,000	4,200
Santa Ana	157,447	123,735
Seal Beach	8,470	9,823
County of Orange	97,912	135,190

WOMEN HEAR TALK ON CHINA

That educational methods bringing about national solidarity in a manner unspectacular but certain, will eventually make China the winning nation in the Sino-Japanese conflict, was the opinion expressed last night before Business and Professional Women, by a young Pomeranian College student, Edward Benner. He spent the past year as one of the dozen or more foreign students among the hundreds of Chinese students at Yenching University in Peiping.

As chairman of the month's program committee, Mrs. Anita Alexander had secured the guest speaker, and was assisted by Miss Louise Chapman in arranging special music. Two junior college students provided this interval, Miss Marjorie Ball, soprano, and Miss Margaret Davies, her accompanist. The pretty songs were "Cathedral in the Pines," "In a Little Dutch Kindergarten," and as an encore, "Little Old Lady."

Dramatic Experience
When the speaker was introduced, he told of his departure for China to enter the university, on a Japanese express freighter loaded with munitions, giving him his first direct contact with war conditions. After crossing Japan and Korea, and reaching the university, he found himself in the midst of the war. For Japanese troops were close to the campus. In fact one of his dramatic recollections was of an evening walk on the campus, and hearing from one direction, the university chorus singing the Brahms "Requiem" while from the other direction

Drop a Bayer Tablet in water—it starts to disintegrate in 2 seconds—hence is ready to "go to work" rapidly

This Quick Dissolving Property of Genuine Bayer Aspirin Explains Fast Relief

If you suffer with headaches or the pains of rheumatism or neuritis, keep the above picture about genuine Bayer Aspirin in your mind. Especially if quick relief is what you want.

For the way a Bayer Tablet works in the glass is the way it works when you take it. It starts to dissolve almost at once—hence is ready to "take hold" of the rheumatic pain or headache with astonishing speed. Relief often comes in a few minutes.

Always ask for "Bayer Aspirin"—never ask for "aspirin" alone.

PROCESSING TAXES

It is curious that people who become fighting mad every time they hear "sales tax" mentioned will submit, without a whimper, to a processing tax, such as is now being advocated by President Roosevelt through Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. A processing tax is a direct tax on everything that the people eat and wear, but few people object to paying taxes as long as they are concealed in the purchase price and they do not see the amount they really pay on each article. As the late P. T. Barnum said, "The people like to be humbugged."

HELIOPTROPE DRIVE

Opening of Heliotrope Drive by Allison Honer this week adds materially to the scenic beauty of the Santa Ana residential section in the north part of the city.

This sub-division offers possibilities that no other street in Santa Ana can boast. In the first place it is located in a desirable part of the city and winds through thickly wooded territory. With the proper restriction on building it soon will be one of the show streets of the city.

Mr. Honer is to be congratulated on opening this sub-division and it will tie in most favorably with adjoining sub-divisions that he has opened in the past.

We predict that Heliotrope Drive will be one of the beauty spots of the city within a very few months.

THE KIND OF REFORM WE NEED

It is said in some responsible quarters that few legislative bombshells will be exploded in the next Congress. Government officials, it is rumored, have at last discovered the danger of proposing one piece of experimental legislation after another, and are nowhere near as eager as they were to propose new and extraordinary "reforms" affecting industry, agriculture and labor.

If that is true, it's time for hosannas. For nothing can so imperil recovery and the attainment of a sound economy, as a chaotic and unpredictable policy on the part of the federal government. No man is willing to risk his savings in productive industry when he doesn't know from one day to the next whether a new law, a new tax, or a new administrative decision, may destroy them. No man can look forward with optimism and faith to the future when his government takes an inimical attitude toward those businesses which employ our workers and produce our national income.

The next congress would be wise to pay more attention to correction or repeal of questionable laws than to passing new ones. It could do the country yeoman service by eliminating such recovery-blocking enactments as the undistributed profits tax and the capital gains tax, and by overhauling the unfair, unworkable Labor Relations Act—an act which perhaps has done more than any single piece of legislation to create and maintain industrial strife in this country. The principal kind of reform we need now is reform of a lot of crack-pot legislation passed during the last few years.

FACTS, NOT SENSATIONS, WANTED

In a strong editorial the Christian Science Monitor observes: "People had a right to expect more than has developed from the much-heralded congressional investigation of the Tennessee Valley Authority—not more sensations but more facts."

"For instance, is the long-discussed allocation of dam and reservoir costs as between flood control, navigation and power fairly made? How much of the wide difference in interest rates as between government bonds and utility company bonds does the TVA deserve to be allowed in counting its cost of power production? Does the TVA pay the full equivalent of taxes that private property-owners would pay? Is its enjoyment of the franking privilege on mail and of government rates on freight a substantial factor in operating expenses?"

Looking back on the investigation, it becomes increasingly clear how little of tangible importance it actually produced. Thousands of pages of testimony were taken—but most of it dealt with personalities, charges and counter-charges that are basically beside the main points at issue. Has the investigation been primarily interested in white-washing the Authority? So far as really clearing up TVA issues is concerned, the inquiry was largely a sheer waste of time and taxpayers' money.

This is not a carping criticism. The taxpayers have invested untold millions in the TVA, to say nothing of the other, similar projects scattered about the country. They are being asked to invest untold millions more. The jobs of thousands of workers in the private utility industry, and the savings of thousands of owners of utility securities, are at stake. This being true, the apparent fact that the TVA inquiry has produced little that is enlightening, is a major tragedy.

THE COMMUNISTS COME TO TOWN
(Chicago Tribune)

The communist party in Chicago has grown to be a big boy. A few years ago a national convention of the party could have been held in any one of the small assembly halls and few people would have known that the comrades were in town. All is different now.

Earl Browder, general secretary and Stalin representative in America, comes to Chicago Friday night. The comrades have hired the Stadium for the meeting at which he will speak. The Stadium is the largest indoor assembly place in town. If only five or six thousand people gathered there they would rattle around. No politicians would undertake to have a meeting in the Stadium unless they were assured they could fill the place. Mr. Browder is a good politician. He has to be, even with Mr. Roosevelt's encouragement, to carry the red banner here while Stalin is murdering all the old bolsheviks in Russia.

Mr. Browder keeps the Stalin banner back of the Roosevelt banner. He does not fear the Moscow standard but he keeps it in the background. If there is a full display of communist

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

HOOVER'S IDEA OF FREE ENTERPRISE

When I listen to Herbert Hoover make a political speech and discuss free enterprise, I am amazed at his contradictions and inconsistencies. He advocates the return to free enterprise, yet, at the same time, he advocates many customs and laws that absolutely make free enterprise impossible.

In spite of the fact that nearly 1000 leading economists in the United States petitioned Mr. Hoover in 1932, urging him to veto the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Bill, he proceeded to sign it. This discriminatory tax law that compelled those farmers who export their products to sell abroad for less than they would if we did not have this artificial interference with imports, certainly is the very antithesis of the free enterprise system that Hoover proclaims he so cherishes.

He advocates a monopoly in labor by advocating collective bargaining. Yet he fails to explain how collective bargaining can fit in with free enterprise. It is the very antithesis of free enterprise. He says that "some got too much of the productive pie for the service they performed. This was, in a way corrected through inheritance taxes." But he does not explain how he can take inheritance taxes from the man who gets too much, and at the same time not take it from the man who produced what he gets. He is perfectly willing to stifle and cripple business and make it impossible for a man with vision to train his successors, simply to take from those who get what they do not deserve. This is a strange form of justice to stifle and interfere with free enterprise in order to get those who, by chicanery and abuse of bank credit, get wealth they do not produce.

He was in office when the bankers were misusing bank credit and he made no move to correct this most serious interference with free enterprise. Instead of doing this, he attempted to buy up commodities that were produced out of proportion with monopoly produced goods, due almost entirely to collective bargaining which he advocates, and the misuse of bank credit and the bad taxing system which he also advocates.

It is hard to determine whether Hoover is a moron in economics and does not understand his inconsistencies or whether he is a demagogue and trying to outdo Roosevelt in his popular appeal to the crowd. It looks as if he were trying to build up in order to be a candidate again.

Hoover is so egotistic and satisfied with his own wisdom and foresight that he uses generalities and will not explain how he proposes to work out the free enterprise which he claims to advocate.

Hoover could have a great opportunity to be of service to humanity by really advocating free enterprise, if only he would do it. Instead of that, he confuses the people who have confidence in him because of the great honor and trust that was imposed on him when he was President.

When the Republican leaders, like Hoover, continue to advocate generalities and popular moves, without explaining them, and have no real program, the Republican party is indeed bankrupt, as far as leadership is concerned.

ROOSEVELT HAS NO NEW IDEAS

Roosevelt, in his recent filibuster election speech, says, "new ideas cannot be administered successfully by men with old ideas."

I wonder whether Roosevelt actually believes that he has had a new idea. One wonders whether Roosevelt has never read history and does not really know that all the things he has tried are not new at all but have been tried many, many times and always resulted eventually in lowering the wages of all workers. He just believes they will work because he so wishes but cannot even draw a blue print or a prospectus as to how, even from a theoretical standpoint, his schemes will work out to raise the standard of living and bring about security to the workers. And if they cannot be imagined and put into a theory, it is folly to hope that they will bring the results he claims they will.

decorations in the Stadium there will be pictures of Mr. Stalin and of Mr. Roosevelt. There may also be pictures of Jefferson and Lincoln. Mr. Browder gave Jefferson and Lincoln to the bolshevik galaxy which Stalin purged by killing all the Founding Fathers of the soviet state. He added Stalin to the American gallery. It will be interesting to see whether the communists pull their punches Friday night or display themselves in the positions they have taken.

They are for the New Deal. Scott Lucas, the Illinois Democratic candidate for the United States senate, has tried to get them off his coattail, but they will not get off. They are on Mr. Roosevelt's coattail. He gets mad only at the people who see what they see. Mr. Browder has just returned from Europe. He made a speech last week in New York. He said that the duty of the American democracy was to ally itself with the liberal forces, principally the liberal democracy in Russia, to fight the consequences of the Munich agreement, to fight Germany, Japan, and Italy, to overthrow Chamberlain and Daladier, to save Spain, to save China, and to protect Russia. Under Roosevelt and Stalin world democracy could win its battle.

When Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Hull, and other federal officials issue warnings to Germany, Italy, and Japan the communists applaud. That is their foreign policy. They demand the repeal of the neutrality laws and the giving of active aid in Spain and China. That is in the line of foreign policy. Mr. Browder will probably speak at length here on this subject. Their domestic policy is represented by the present by the New Deal. They favor the New Deal because it is a direct attack upon private enterprise and private capital. It produces the conditions favorable to revolution. It creates the necessary destitution and disorder.

The communist party relies upon the New Deal to increase the number of unemployed, to keep private industry from making a recovery, to absorb more of the capital resources of the country, to spread state socialism, and promote industrial strife. It relies upon the New Deal to create class consciousness and incite class antagonism. The communists damn the Republicans all together and each individually. They recognize the Republican candidates as their enemies and the New Deal candidates as their friends.

Mr. Browder will explain all this to his audience Friday night. The Chicago comrades believe they can fill the Stadium and overflow into the streets. If their New Deal allies will help them out they should have no trouble. The Democratic candidates should be on the platform. They are comrades now. Mr. Browder gives them Mr. Stalin. They give him Mr. Roosevelt.

Something to Begin Thinking About

General Hugh S. JOHNSON SAYS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The non-political question most frequently asked me comes from people who have sons approaching college age. It is, "How about sending my boy to West Point? What kind of an education is that?"

There have been some recent criticisms of the West Point course of study from an educator's standpoint, that it is not sufficiently liberal, that it does not develop enough personal initiative.

I may be a poor and prejudiced adviser. Generally, if you ask a Harvard or a Siwash man what is the best college, he will say "Harvard" or "Siwash" as the case may be. West Pointers, as a rule, are no different. But I happen to be a graduate also of a great state university and a small teacher's college. That might broaden my view a little bit.

It is true that the West Point course is not flexible. Every cadet takes exactly the same course as every other cadet. There are no "electives" and no exceptions. I will also admit that the instructors are not trained educators. They are simply graduates of the same course sent back from their regular Army duties for a four-year hitch. The instruction can't be expected to be as efficient as that of a professional teacher.

But that instruction is given in groups of 12 cadets. Every man has to recite in every subject every day. The assignments of lessons are stiff and every man is marked every day on a high and very rigid standard. If a boy fails in one single subject—once, he is, with few exceptions, finished. He has lost a good job and his chance and he gets off the reservation in 24 hours. It gets to be a matter of fierce pride with every cadet not to fail. While almost half of them do fail, it is rarely for lack of earnest effort.

What I am trying to say is that, over the shortcomings of the course may be, it is at least well grounded into every graduate. It may not be a broad education, but its product is really educated in every part of it—or else.

As to the course itself, it is really a sort of pre-scientific training based upon and shot through with mathematics. It carries no subject, such as chemistry, electricity or engineering further than its fundamentals but it builds them solidly. A cadet is so thoroughly grounded in several sciences that if he wanted to, he could carry on in almost any of them.

The principal stress is an unusual firm attempt at character building—honesty, honor, loyalty and courage. In that I think the Academy is generally more successful than any other college. Coupled with that is the best all-around physical training and development in the world.

When a boy gets out of West Point, he is far from being highly educated—even as a soldier. But he has as broad and firm a foundation for any kind of education as he could get anywhere.

Yes, I would send my boy to West Point if I could. (I did so.) But if I did, I would realize that while he could do well at anything when he came out, the chances are nine out of 10 that he will want

Register Clearing House

"It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."—Spencer. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.

Fellow Citizens: I do thank The Register for standing on its own feet and being afraid to give us the truth about the character of those we should vote upon Nov. 8. I also do thank Mrs. Helena Christianson for her contributions in the Clearing House and likewise those of Mr. Arp and many more courageous men who have taken time to investigate this whole Communist set up. God give us men at a time like this who are unafraid, and who have a backbone. Most of your dear people don't know where you would find yourselves if these Communists should take over the state of California.

Is there a real danger? Yes! The nation and the state of California in particular, are now face to face with an Armageddon. For the last three years the Communists and their agents have been building a political program to take over California. This danger came out in the open in 1934 when Upton Sinclair and his red Epic program swept our state, which resulted in his capturing the Democratic party, and becoming the Democratic nominee for governor. As everyone knows, Upton Sinclair was defeated by the united Christian effort of all groups, who submerged their political differences and got behind Frank F. Merriam in a great non-political battle to save California from Communistic control.

Who are the candidates endorsed by the Communist party? They are Olson, Patterson and Downey. These three men are openly backed, 100 per cent, by all Communist and radical groups, and have received their public endorsement.

Should every candidate that is backed by the Communists be defeated? Yes! Because the Communist groups only back those to whom they can dictate. They need a good front for their evil program.

Just what is Communism? Read and listen:

First—the destruction of all forms of religion and the teaching of the hatred for God.

Second—the destruction of the ideals of home and family life; the inter-marriage of all races.

Third—abolition of property rights and inheritance; the confiscation of all private industry.

Fourth—to promote the most bitter kind of class hatred; to develop a class civil war in order to obtain their ultimate objective.

Fifth—using Communist Internationalism, with headquarters in Moscow, to spread revolutionary propaganda and to incite strikes, riots, sabotage and industrial unrest in all nations.

Sixth—to overthrow, by violence, the government of our United States.

Were Downey and Olson a part of the Communist and Social Epic program in 1934?

Yes! They were Upton Sinclair's high-band lieutenants and stump speakers. The leopard cannot change its spots. Neither can these men, no matter how much they change their names or paint over their program.

And now fellow citizens and mothers, yes Democrats, Republicans, Presbyterians, Catholics, Methodists, Baptists and every patriot who loves our flag, I have given you the warning. It is now up to you. If you are a true lover of all that is wholesome and are interested in the welfare of our beloved state and nation, you will vote for Frank Merriam for lieutenant-governor and Philip Bancroft for United States senator.

And remember when you go to your voting places, say a silent prayer and look in the face of our loving Saviour and say: "I have done what I could."

Dare to stand like Daniel. Dare to say the word.

In this supreme hour we want a people with a backbone. Our motto should be: "They shall not pass!"

MRS. JANE VOGELZANG.

Fellow Citizens: "LINK N. E. WEST TO PAMPHLET CASE."

The above banner heading across the Register's issue of November 3rd was, of course, deliberately calculated to mislead its readers into the belief that Mr. West had been brought under suspicion of being implicated in the publication of "Fools Rush In." Of course the heading proved a boomerang in the case of those who read the article it ostensibly referred to. But then, all newspaper men know how many people never get beyond the headings.

If testimony reported in the article linked Mr. West to the notorious pamphlet, it likewise linked Jesse Elliott, Logan Jackson, Jim Sleeper, "Four of the five Santa Ana city councilmen, etc." Of course it linked none of these, and this includes Mr. West, with the "Pamphlet Case."

As a result of this cheap trick taken from yellow journalism, with a decidedly political aroma, Register readers have had brought home to them the melancholy fact that the Front Page of the Register, and its Editorial Page no longer speak the same language, as the Editorial Page long ago and loudly proclaims its fairness.

H. L. SHERMAN.

Editor's Note: The writer of the above evidently thinks that one man has time to edit and select all copy going into a newspaper. The above heading, referred to by the contributor, was only run in a part of the first edition of The Register. When the inconsistency of the heading with the text of the article was discovered, the press was stopped and a new heading written.

It is easy to draw conclusions as to the motives of an individual by those who do not understand the rapidly with which a newspaper is assembled and to impute the motives of all of a newspaper principles because of one error, or slip, or one employee.

Fellow Citizens: It seems to my limited intelligence, that one thing all "brain trusters" have overlooked (unintentionally?) in their investigations—

YOUR Nation's Affairs

YOU AND

A Good Idea Gone Wrong

By HARLEY L. LUTZ

Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University

The fruits of the New York constitutional convention are before the people for consideration at the election tomorrow. The amendments proposed have been made available to the citizens in booklet form and through wide-spread legal advertising. The latter presents summaries or abstracts of the various proposals rather than exact texts. Even so, these summaries occupy many columns set in the smallest readable type.

The personnel of the New York convention is conceded to have been well above the average in ability and in experience with public affairs. The fact that such a group could produce a result so appalling as the publicized amendments is discouraging to all who believe in the future of parliamentary government. The convention began by asserting that its proposals for amendment should be clear, concise and limited to broad statements of policy. This was a most commendable position to take. It is the only sound position on which a workable constitution can be written. But as the debate proceeded the high aims were entirely lost to sight and the amending process degenerated into the ordinary and depressing kind of "log-rolling" that has characterized so large a proportion of our legislative process.

The result of the convention's labors is not, therefore, a constitution nor a set of constitutional amendments in any real sense. It is a complicated, cumbersome and obscure code of legislation. Despite its initial protests to the contrary, the convention has proposed to legislate via the constitution. And the measures, statutory in character, upon which the people are asked to vote could not have been more verbally complicated if they had been drafted by any common garden variety of state legislature instead of by this assembly of specially selected delegates. All of this is particularly discouraging to the believers in democracy. We are being told, both by the foreign dictators and by the disciples of dictatorship in our midst, that democracy and parliamentary government are dying or dead institutions. It is being said that the people have no capacity to govern themselves and that a "leader" is required who will make all of the decisions, both important and trivial. These critics of the democratic process might very well point to the New York constitutional amendments of 1938 as conclusive evidence of the incapacity of even a relatively high-grade parliamentary group to distinguish between fundamental matters of policy and principle, on one hand, and routine, procedural and administrative details of a purely statutory character, on the other.

Of course there is an explanation. There usually is. This time it is the old, old story of the pressure groups, those bands of determined minorities that gang up on legislators and administrators to promote some hobby or vested interest, regardless of the general good. It is illuminating that public endorsement or criticism has generally reflected the pressure group point of view, for approval or rejection has been based entirely on the degree to which the proposals embody the particular things that this group or that wants to see embodied in the constitution. Also the product of pressure group action and they illustrate the kind of product that may be expected from such action. They are not even good legislation; but as amendments to the constitution of a great state they are abominable.

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1938 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The hand has always been quicker than the eye in Washington, but here lately the lip has been faster than both. It's the election. The talking build-up has virtually monopolized government developments for weeks. Lower-class housing, the "horrible" Whitney report, Columbia Gas indictments, Ford-Chrysler consent decrees—these and much more have been timed or contrived with today's voting in mind.

Tomorrow government will return to normal.

The Whitney report was the most carefully timed. It was to have been a Republican gubernatorial Candidate Dewey out of his holster, than-thou-Democrats attitude, but it failed to go off. The report was divided into three sections to promote public interest, and the President's personal publicity adviser raised a hot fuss when the second section came out too late one morning to make the home editions of the press.

The shot at Dewey (un-named) was a section criticizing the stock exchange, and was to have been a having turned Whitney in sooner. The only way Dewey could be connected with that, in his report, he said he would leave this particular matter to the Securities Exchange commission.

It was a somewhat damp cartilage as SEC agreed no one could have been prosecuted for anything. But the interpretation was planted by some officials in the press, and Mr. Roosevelt seemed to hint at the same idea in his Friday night remarks about prosecuting the rich as well as the poor, the influential as well as the pauper criminal.

In the end, however, the shot never really got out of the gun, (as far as is known here) because none of Dewey's opponents apparently wanted to be identified with pulling that particular trigger.

Talk about $5-and-$10-a-room housing is not likely to develop results anytime soon. It got one of the unsuccessful ideas upon which the administration has been working for sometime.

The problem is real. Mordecai Ezekiel (agriculture department economist) will have a book out in January, no matter which way the election goes. It will be called "Jobs for All" and the housing chapter will say 80 per cent of FHA building is for houses retailing at $4000. Only one-fourth of the non farm families have the $2000 or more annual income necessary to buy these. Three-fourths of the nation therefore is governmentally unhouseed, except those for whom Nathan Strauss has cleared a slum. The Lambert plan (which the President has been discussing) was able to furnish cheaper homes in Princeton, New Jersey, mainly because the burrough donated the land tax free and will receive the houses in return at the end of 28 years. If this were done on a large scale the towns would get no taxes for 28 years to pay for police, fire and school services for the new families that would be created. Also the bonds issued to Lambert by the housing authority was state chartered. But if private authorities try the same thing, an amendment to existing laws would be required, and the President has announced he is opposed to such tax exemptions.

No solution is near. Justice department stoutly maintains the Columbia Gas indictment and the Ford-Chrysler consent decree settlement, both announced within five days of election, had no connection with it. No doubt exists that these were valid legal actions, and probably would have been taken anyway, but the announcements were propitiously handled. Indictments of 60 or 70 dairy officials in a Chicago anti-trust case, however, have been delayed by the same department so as to have no influence in the campaign there. These will be coming down shortly.

Note—Justice department claims, it got more out of Ford and Chrysler in altering finance charges than if it had gone to court. General Motors apparently thinks so, too. It is going to take its chances in court.

Many another official phonograph record was played for its tub-thumping rhythm (labor peace tangos by Madame Perkins, words out a conclusion; patriotic airs in the re-arrangement program; business peace melodies, Louis Johnson war music to which the Utilities danced; the words without music on the Dies committee); some of which will be reduced to pure prose, without melody, now that the campaign is over.

While this political cue music has been all-inclusive it has been less shrill than some expected, and not much more than usual. In fact, some governmental master musicians wonder if it has been loud enough to be heard.

The answer will start coming in about 8 p. m., E.S.T.

Game birds decreased in number in the United States during 1930 that the government was forced to import 90,000 from Mexico.

Not until 1832 was it discovered that, in order for a seed to forth, the pollen of a flower must touch the ovule.

I know, in advance, the howl this will bring forth, and really, I like to hear such noises. It may be that the peoples' brains aren't entirely atrophied yet, although their economic and political activities during the past 10 years would register a big "minus" in an I.Q. test.

Now, this can be labelled as an outgrowth of any or all of the present day "isms" (the more the merrier) but I still would like to

The protest was referred to the civil service committee now considering a proposal to bring city-wide civil service to Santa Ana as requested by a city employees group. Firemen and police already are under civil service.

"We have thought you would not make civil service city-wide in the face of conditions, especially the Los Angeles expose," Hencke wrote. "Let the people decide this important issue by vote the same as before. It is too late for this election but how about one in the spring?"

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JUDY ALCOFF—admiral's daughter. She faced a choice between two navy suitors.
D WIGHT CAMPBELL—ambitious lieutenant. He faced a choice between his wife and duty.
JACK HANLEY—young sailor. He faced a test of a patient love.
MARVEL HASTINGS—navy wife. She faced the test of being a good sailor.

Yesterday, Jack warned Judy against Dwight and in a blaze of humiliation and anger she replied, "He has asked me to marry him, so how do you like that?"

CHAPTER II

BUT even as the words left her lips, her heart sank. What had she done? Whatever had egged her into throwing that lie into Jack's teeth? Because Dwight hadn't asked her to marry him at all! He'd been attentive, and he'd kissed her. But he had never proposed to her.

Jack's eyes showed his hurt. He said, "I'm sorry, Judy, I—I didn't know." His shoulders seemed to sag.

She felt sorry for him. She knew he thought of her as a little sister to be protected, and he'd meant well, warning her of what he thought were Dwight's intentions. But she couldn't help saying, "You're jaundiced, Jack. You're unhappy on your plane carrier, you want to get back to Lakehurst, and it's soured you on everything. You see Dwight getting along, in line for promotion, and it—it gets your goat, I guess."

His eyes flashed. "That's not so! I wouldn't be jealous of a—of a rank-worshiper like him! I'll get ahead on my own, without help from any relatives in Washington or any admirals, either!"

She hadn't meant to hurt him. She said inadequately, "Forgive me. I guess we've both said things we didn't mean."

AND just then a figure came out of the wardrobe hatch close by. He was silhouetted against the light for a moment, and then they heard his footstep on the deck as he came toward them. "Hi!" he said. "I missed you." The piano had stopped. Judy had a vision of her father and Captain Lane getting out the backgammon board. Dwight was saying, "Am I busting up anything?" His tone was assured, as if he knew she would welcome him.

"Lieutenant Hanley was just leaving," said Judy evenly.

They watched him go, his back very straight. Dwight stood close to Judy. It gave her courage. The little regret that stirred inside her was stilled. Jack deserved just what he got for talking to her like that!

Dwight took her arm, and walked toward the bow of the ship, nodding to the young ensign who was officer of the deck.

Jack Hanley had come to dinner here tonight only because he had persuaded a classmate to ask him. He had known she'd be here. That was why, she saw now, he had come. While Dwight was making himself agreeable to her mother and Mrs. Lane, the captain's wife, after the three of them left the junior officers' quarters for the wardroom, Jack had asked Judy to walk out on deck with him.

THE deck under her feet was solid and familiar. This great gray ship, with the water lapping at its sides, was only one of dozens of ships she had known. Ever since she was a little girl, she had been visiting aboard battleships and cruisers and destroyers from Shanghai to Norfolk.

Dwight was saying, "There's something I want to tell you. I've wanted to tell you for a long time."

They stopped as they reached the steel deckplates on which the heavy anchor chain lay. They did not step over the anchor chain, but stood against the chain-rail. Judy looked at Dwight. How handsome he was! His dark hair curled a little under the gold-eagled cap. There was the slightest suggestion of a cleft in his chin. He had something to tell her!

"Judy," said Dwight, his eyes on the water, "Judy, just what do you think of marriage for a career man?"

Her hands shook. But her voice was very clear. "I think it's a good idea, don't you?"

Dwight's handsome profile was intent. "Look, Judy, you're a navy girl. You know things. Your father's got rank. You know what I mean. For a young fellow like me, who wants to get to be an admiral himself some day, the girl he marries is important. Wives can help men or hinder 'em. I've seen it. Well—what I'm trying to say is—"

She held her breath. He said, "Well, the pay's nothing, and yet it takes money to make the right kind of impression. Entertaining the right people. Living up to the rank and position. Oh, heck—you know what I mean. If you were in my shoes, would you marry while you were still a j. g.?"

"Of course!" she said. Why must the image of Ward Fenning come between her and Dwight?

"That settles it! I'm going to do it. Oh, Judy, I've thought and thought about it. I—I guess you know how a man feels about a girl. And yet I kept thinking maybe it wasn't the right thing to do."

She stood very still. Now he'd put his arms around her. But he didn't. He leaned against the chain, his eyes looking out into the darkness ahead.

He turned to her. He said earnestly, "I appreciate everything you've done for me. It's been grand, knowing you, Judy. You're so Navy—your whole family—we've had good times, haven't we? And I want you to keep on helping me, if you can. You see—"

He stopped. His fingers curled into a fist. "You see, she's not Navy."

JUDY'S heart missed a beat. For one still moment, she did not believe that she had heard right. But she managed a smile and tried to ask steadily, "What did you say, Dwight?"

"I said she's not Navy. The girl I'm going to marry."

Now it came, the sudden, lost feeling. The dive of her heart, and the quick, bounding blood at her temples. He hadn't been meaning Judy Alcott at all, when he talked of marriage! Some other girl—some girl who wasn't Navy!

Dwight was hurrying on. "Oh, I'm crazy about her, have been for a long time. But she's so darned rich and sure of herself, and I thought a penniless duffer like me wouldn't stand a chance." He laughed, "She liked the uniform all right. And she let me date her steadily, the whole time I was at the Base in Norfolk. I asked her how she'd like to join the Navy and she only laughed. But—but now she's taking it seriously. I can't believe it. She's got everything, social position, money, and looks! Wait till you see her, Judy. She's a dream!"

Judy was suddenly conscious of sounds. There must be signalmen and quartermasters up on the bridge. Then she said quickly, "I wish you all the happiness ever! Would you mind if we—if we went back now?"

He did not seem to notice anything amiss, but kept on chattering happily about this girl he was going to marry. Her name was Marvel Hastings. She was redheaded. She was flying to the coast next week. He wanted Judy to meet her. He knew she'd like her.

Bud Judy Alcott, walking beside him toward the wardroom hatch, felt a little wind suddenly on her bare shoulders. She thought bleakly of the times she had danced in his arms; of how he had kissed her. This was why he had always seemed cautious and a trifle distant. Because he had never meant it. He'd only been playing. Playing! She stumbled on the ladder, and his hand was on her elbow. She trembled.

As they entered the warm, lighted wardroom, she felt the unshed tears sting her eyes. But she darted toward her mother, who was sitting in a wicker chair talking to Jack Hanley, and she said brightly, "Time to go home, isn't it? Mustn't keep the ladies aboard after midnight."

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

CHERISHING THE I. Q.

I see by the papers that a professor has found that a teacher cannot measure a child's I. Q., by judging his class work. That is not news. The I. Q. is the result of a set test, given under set conditions, with certain required experiences to decide the child's response. What is important in the professor's finding is that the teacher's judgment is based on what the child DOES, not upon what the test says he MIGHT do. The usefulness of a human being is measured by what he can do successfully, and not by what somebody thinks he might do if he tried hard. As a usual thing the children with the high I. Q.'s are successful in school. But at either end of the scale, those who fall far below, and those who rise far to the top, are to be reckoned with. What about the child who gets a genius rating, but who cannot master the work of his grade? Is the I. Q. to be his standard, or his ability to actually perform his task? And the occasional child who has the low I. Q., but who is able to be graduated with his class on scheduled time? Is he to be rated as unfit because of his I. Q., or is he to be allowed the reward of his accomplishment?

Success in life is based on what a man does. I believe that the same thing holds good in school life. If a pupil can do his work to a passing standard, he does well. If he does not do his work to that standard he fails. The pupil with the low I. Q., needs help, usually, and is able to benefit, usually, by that help. Everybody expects him to be helped and his state is accepted. But the unfortunate child who has the high I. Q., without the ability to harness it to work, is in a sad predicament indeed. His teacher says he is backward and needs help, but the sacred record says he is a genius; and it is the school that is failing, not the child. When this happens, and it does happen every so often, I take the teacher's judgment and proceed to help the child accordingly. Experience teaches me that genius without creative power is nothing, and it is to be regarded just that way.

It is true that a teacher cannot per cent the genius of a child. What of it? Neither can a test. But the teacher can do what is most important in this situation. She can answer the question that must be answered in measuring the power of a child to take an education. Can this child profit by the work and succeed in it? Because she has lived daily with this child, seen him try and fail, or try and succeed, seen him in his different moods and aspects, seen him more completely than anybody else, save perhaps his mother, she knows about what he is able to do and can say so to a practical accuracy. If there were no standard tests, no I. Q. ratings, I would never worry. I would turn to the experenced, able teacher and ask for her judgment on the children, when such judgment was needed. It is needed less often than one would suppose in the face of the batteries of tests directed at the children's minds.

Ability needs no searchlight. It shines with its own power. Genius cannot be denied its place. It creates that place by its own fire. The I. Q., won't do any harm if it is supported by the able teacher's judgment. Otherwise, look out.

Miles S-T-R-E-T-C-H —the more STOP and GO the longer miles grow—

In low and second, your engine makes up to 3 times as many revolutions as in high—uses 3 times as much gasoline

Today's stop-and-go driving fools your speedometer! While your car is going only one mile, your engine may go the equivalent of two miles.

The number of extra revolutions your engine makes depends on how many times you stop and start—how much of your driving is in low and second gears.

While you can't avoid the annoyance of stop-and-go driving, you can do something about its high cost.

Shell engineers have found that getting away from an average traffic stop actually can waste enough "undigested" gasoline to carry you one-third of a mile.

To cut this costly waste, they rearranged the chemical structure of gasoline. They make every drop of Super-Shell "motor digestible"—every drop usable in stop-and-go driving.

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, November 8.—It's amazing how few really colorful personalities there are in this year's bumper crop of capable young actors and actresses. The majority have brains, education, looks and even a high degree of technical skill, but they lack "oomph" that makes Garbo and Gable. Only Hedy Lamarr, among the girls, seems to have it. And John Garfield is the one male bet who may become a personality.

Looking over the long list of screen debuts, it seems to me that most of them are products of the same mold. They talk alike, walk alike, dress alike and act alike. The same comments can be made about the men. They are run-of-the-mill goods, as standardized as so many cans of beans. And I'm wondering if the fact that so many of them are college-bred doesn't have a lot to do with it. The constant trend in a college education is emotional control—repression of this natural reaction that set one person apart from all his fellows. Highly educated people are poised, sure of themselves and quick-minded, but they are not "natural."

The stars of yesterday—the Wallace Reids, Gloria Swansons, Clara Bows and Rudolph Valentinos—were great because they had carried over into adulthood the emotionalism of children. Technically, they couldn't hold a candle to today's actors, but they were able to stir audience emotion by the naturalness of their own emotions. Not one in a hundred had spent a day in college. Most of them came from the back alleys of showdom. But I think Hollywood would give a lot for a few more like them.

It's Twentieth Century-Fox's idea to build Pauline Moore into a Hollywood glamour girl, but after chatting with a magazine scribe who interviewed her the other day, I'm a bit dubious of the studio's success. In his best fan mag style, he asked her what kind of perfume she prefers to all others. "The sweetness of my baby's neck," she replied with hesitation—and after all, how are they going to glamorize a girl like that?

ODD-FORMATION: The Japanese florist who supplies the Warner Brothers studio is named Kelly. A mural painting in Mickey Rooney's "rumpus room" depicts Clark Gable as a matador. Garbo as a fan dancer and Spencer Tracy as an Arab sheik. Those chairs you see smashed over the hero's handsome head are made of balsa wood—lighter than cork. Andy Devine used to be a real-life-cow-waddy. Biggest collection of valentines in town belongs to Joan Bennett—she's saved them since kindergarten days.

Binnie Barnes started her money-earning career as a 15-year-old milk-maid in England. The annual "take" of Hollywood's fortune tellers is estimated at more than a million. Isa Miranda grants interviews freely—but only at four p.

ENTHUSIASTIC CANTANDO CLUB REHEARSAL LAUDS ITS GUEST

One of the most important rehearsals of Cantando club in advance of its first concert of the season was held last night when the men were led through their program by Joseph J. Klein. A week from tonight they will sing this program before the season's first audience in Santa Ana high school auditorium.

The same enthusiasm with which the men approach their opening concert is expressed for the guest artist whom they will introduce. This is Miss Zarhi Elmiasian, lyric soprano of Los Angeles who was so well received upon her former appearance as guest soloist with Cantando club. Miss Elmiasian will sing two solo groups, Miss Ruth Armstrong will be her accompanist.

Opens With "Ave Maria"
For her opening group Miss Elmiasian will sing the "Ave Maria" from Verdi's "Otello"; the "Alleluia" of Mozart and "Les Filles de Cadix" of Delibes. In sharp contrast will be the three numbers of her second group, Campbell-Tipton's "Spirit Flower"; "The Star" by Rogers and "When I Have Sung My Songs to You" by Ernest Charles.

These solos will round out a well balanced program in which Cantando club has sought to alternate heavy numbers with those in lighter vein. They will open the program with "Oh, Hail Us Ye Free" from Verdi's "Ernani"; Carl Hahn's translation of "Softly In The Gloaming" (Franz Abt) and "John Peel," the old English hunting song by Mark Andrews.

Following Miss Elmiasian's first solo group, the men will sing the Charles D. Dawes arrangement of the Handel number, "Ye Tutele Gods" from "Belshazzar"; "The Blind Plover" by Clark, and the A. T. Davidson arrangement of the seventeenth century German melody, "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones."

In "The Song of Man" (Richard Kountz) with which the club will resume its program after intermission, the baritone solo part will feature Robert White. "The Reapers Song," an A. T. Davidson arrangement of a Bohemian Folk-song, will have a two-piano accompaniment with Dudley Paige Harper at the second piano.

This second half of the program will include with Miss Elmiasian's solo, her appearance also as soprano soloist in the "Italian Street Song" from Victor Herbert's "Naughty Marietta."

P. E. Franchise Tax Received

A certified check for $224.75 in payment of the Pacific Electric Railroad company's franchise tax from November 8, 1937, to November 7, 1938, in payment for use of city streets in operating a part of the railroad system was sent to the city treasurer.

The tax amounted to two per cent of one-half of gross receipts of the transportation company in connection with operation of the system in Santa Ana. Gross receipts totaled $224,751 here. The company has a system 2,155 miles long of which .003969 per cent is in Santa Ana.

TO CLUB SESSION ON COT CRESCENT, Okla., (UP)—Everybody reached the Crescent Women's Study club meeting before the hostess, Mrs. Oscar Brewster, but she had a good reason for being late. She was carried in on a stretcher with 1-er arm in a cast. It was revealed that just before the first guest had arrived Mrs. Brewster fell from a chair, breaking her arm.

Guest Soloist

When Cantando club presents its first concert of the season a week from tonight in the high school auditorium, Miss Zarhi Elmiasian, Los Angeles lyric soprano, will make her second appearance with the club. As soloist with Los Angeles Trinity M. E. church, Miss Elmiasian also sings on KFI radio programs and with both Los Angeles Symphony and San Francisco Opera company.

POOL HALL MEASURE AMENDED BY CITY

By a new amendment to the pool hall and billiard parlor ordinance, Santa Ana boys and girls who are 18 years old may entertain themselves at pool halls, billiard parlors and bowling alleys in Santa Ana, city council decided last night.

The amendment was ordered last night at request of Police Chief Floyd W. Howard. Heretofore, the ordinance has required those visiting such places to be 21. The change was asked, the chief said, because Santa Ana's ordinance has been outmoded and surrounding communities have in the past voted permission to those 18 to visit the places.

"Those young persons between 18 and 21 who play pool or billiards, or who bowl, have been attracted to other places," the chief said. "Revision of the ordinance allowing them to play here will give us better control over their activities." Councilman William Penn, seconded by Councilman Ernest H. Layton, moved adoption of an amendment. The motion carried unanimously.

COUNCIL NOTES

Due to illness of City Clerk Ed Vegely at his home, Deputy City Clerk Erma Keeler was in charge of reading communications at city council meeting last night.

Request of Emmet C. Rogers, building contractor, for permission to have the single family zone on the southwest corner of Oak and Grant streets changed to duplex zone to allow erection of a duplex was deferred two weeks by council last night on recommendation of the city planning commission which will make a special investigation of the district.

November 21 at 7:30 p. m. in council chamber was the time set by city council last night for hearing protests, if any, against establishment of a modernistic, flood-lighted used car market in the 2400-block of North Main. Hearing was set on recommendation of city planners.

With "the very next funds available," North Flower street from Washington to 17th street should be

BLODGET LOSES TILT OVER OIL LEASE

COUNCIL VOTES "YES" ON PACT

Overriding stiff opposition of City Attorney Lew Blodget in a heated argument at the regular meeting of city council here last night, the legislators unanimously approved a lease by the city of 15 acres of land to W. F. "Bill" Croddy, Santa Ana realtor, for oil well operations on city dump property on the west side of the city.

The lease provides that the city is to receive $450 per year, paid in advance, for use of the land. Croddy having on option to extend the lease to three years if he wants to. The city will get a one-sixth royalty if oil should be discovered.

Sees Greater Value
"I am not in favor of entering into the lease at this time," Blodget stated. "I do not believe $450 per year is enough under the circumstances for if oil should be discovered on some of the 2600 acres in the area, the city perhaps could obtain a better lease contract and more royalty. The lease as it is places the city's rights in the hand subordinate to those of the lessee."

He then suggested that the 90-day forfeiture clause be reduced to a 60-day period in case the lease holder or oil operators fail to live up to contract and that the responsibility clause for the lessee be strengthened. The suggestion was approved.

May Be Other Points
"The first I knew of this matter was to be brought before the council tonight was just before the meeting," Blodget said. "There may be other points in the lease which need strengthening on the city's behalf. Illness in my family has kept me away from studying it as much as I want to."

Croddy and his attorney said that immediate action was necessary. Immediate action was necessary because the lease was made by Croddy with oil companies.

"I did not know the action was so urgent," Blodget stated heatedly. "The only urgency is in the minds of the proposed lessee, it seems."

"I gave the copy of the proposed lease to you five weeks ago," Croddy shot back. "That should be plenty of time."

"I had a copy of the lease in my office but it was taken this afternoon," Blodget said. "I took only one copy and there were two in your office," exclaimed Croddy. Blodget adding he knew nothing of a duplicate. Mize explained "that after all, the city's attorney's only interest in the action was to approve the lease as to form, the councilmen being the lease-approvers. That didn't soothe Blodget. Neither did Councilman William Penn's reiteration of Mize's statement.

"If that's the order, it's o. k. by me," the city attorney said. "Then with approval of the city attorney as to form, I move that the lease be agreed upon," said Councilman Ernest H. Layton. Penn seconded. Councilman Joe P. Smith moved that the city attorney prepare a resolution for adoption from the lease form. "I second the motion from the lease form, can't you Lew?" said Layton. "Yes—I presume so," said Blodget. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Councilman Penn Gets Leave Grant

Special permission to leave the state for seven days was granted Councilman William Penn by city council last night. The Penns together with the Arthur F. Travicks will use the seven days for an automobile pleasure trip to Phoenix, Tucson and other Arizona cities. They will be absent over Armistice Day.

After eight weeks of picketing 35 San Francisco department stores, retail clerks are back to work, the strike settled. And the hundreds of banners like these, carried in the picket lines, are now in the rubbish cans.

QUIZ PLANNED FOR DUVALL WEDNESDAY

John C. Duvall, leading the second in his series of adult civic education discussions Wednesday evening, will be under fire, local instructors said today. Last week Duvall laid the foundation for this week's discussion, "What Next in Europe?"

In addition to the fact that this subject permits wide divergence of opinion, the speaker will have the assistance of Orville M. Knutsen, Dr. Kyle A. Lyon and Dr. Kramer J. Kohleisch, of the Santa Ana junior college faculty, who will sit in a panel with him. All are students of international affairs, they have traveled extensively and recently in Europe, and will quiz Duvall.

There is expected to be a sharp exchange of opinion. The meeting opens at 7:30 p. m. and patrons are urged to note the change in location from the Willard auditorium to the little theater at the high school at 520 West Walnut street.

Redwood Forest To Be Discussed

Phillip C. Hill, representative of the Red Empire association, an organization formed to interest the public in the Redwood forests of California, will be the speaker at the regular meeting of Kiwanis at noon tomorrow at the Masonic Temple.

Wilbur Barr will be program chairman and introduce the speaker.

Traffic Menace Cited At Session

Because of the development and popularity of Santiago park the intersection of Santiago street and Santa Clara avenue is becoming a traffic menace, Councilman William Penn stated before city council last night. He said several constituents have complained of the danger. The intersection is "blind" due to trees nearby. The request for action to eliminate the danger was referred to the traffic safety commission and the forestry board for recommendations.

Anaheim and S. A. Lions To Meet

A joint meeting of representatives of the Anaheim and Santa Ana Lions clubs will be held at noon Thursday at the Masonic Temple, according to an announcement today by John Henderson, secretary.

The Anaheim club has as one of its major activities of the club year a club visitation to every other club in the county. W. O. Mendenhall, president of Whittier college will be the speaker of the day and will bring an Armistice Day address to the audience.

CURIOSITY COSTS CAT'S TAIL
OAKLAND, Cal., (UP)—Tony, an Angora cat whose curiosity complex got its tail into close communion with the wringer of an electrical washing machine, underwent a successful operation for the removal of the damaged caudal appendage. The cat is now in a condition to continue its investigation into the laundry business, without further risk—if not to life and limb, at least to tail.

CITY APPROVES HOLMES OUSTER

H. E. Holmes, Santa Ana police officer suspended by Police Chief Floyd W. Howard recently, was officially dismissed from the department by city council last night in a unanimous action which supported a recommendation of the civil service board.

Holmes' ouster and removal from the civil service classification was the first action of its kind under the recently setup civil service code for local police and firemen.

Council's action was unanimous. Although Holmes appeared at the meeting and his attorney, Charles Swanner, appeared in council chamber for a few moments, it was indicated the councilmen were in accord on the ouster move before the meeting and did not care to hear an appeal for re-consideration. Holmes was held guilty of violation of duty and neglect of performing his duty. It was held he brought disrepute upon the police department in September when he stood by with Gladys Durham staged a hand-to-hand fight near Birch and Fourth streets. Mrs. Holmes being injured. Mrs. Holmes and Holmes had been separated for some time. Holmes will draw no

BOOK BOOSTS FAME OF ORANGE COUNTY

Fame of Santa Ana and Orange county continues to spread throughout the nation as the result of the outstanding success of the travel book, "Enchanted Vagabonds", by Dana and Virginia Lamb.

This was the report today by Miss Ethel Walker, Librarian of Santa Ana Public Library, who was in receipt of a letter from a book reviewer in Denver, Colorado, who requested information on the future plans of the Lambs and a thumbnail sketch of their lives before the writing of "Enchanted Vagabonds."

"The book is one of the most popular in the library at the present time," Miss Walker said today. "We now have 10 copies of 'Enchanted Vagabonds' and we hope to have more soon."

"Pitch C," the standard note from which all others are tuned, has 512 vibrations per minute.

"Guest Night" Celebrated By D. A. R. Group

For Guest Night program, an annual event at which Santa Ana chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution compliments husbands and friends of members, the A. J. McFadden home, 1108 North Main street, last night provided a hospitable setting.

A hostess committee composed of Mrs. T. P. McKee, Mrs. J. H. Morningstar, the Misses Martha Morins, Nina Moring, Harriet Whidden and Martha Whitson, aided Mrs. McFadden in all details of the affair. A charming decorative effect was wrought with chrysanthemums in richly vivid hues, while the table in the dining room, from which refreshments were served late in the evening, suggested the lavishness of the season with its variety of fruits arranged in a Mexican bowl. Mrs. Cotton Mather, regent of the chapter, and Miss Whidden presided at the silver coffee urns.

Program features were introduced with music, with Miss Adelaide Proctor of Orange at the piano. Her beautiful numbers included one very much on the theme of the evening, "In Autumn."

For the remainder of the program interval, daughters and their guests were given a colorful bit of Southland history as Terry E. Stephenson told of "Don Juan Forester." As author of various books dealing with the fascinating history of the Southland, Mr. Stephenson is accepted as an authority on the "Days of the Dons." In developing the history of Don Juan Forester, he brought in much of the Spanish background of Orange county, its history and romance. In addition he had brought many rare old pictures and photographs which supplemented and illustrated his talk, and which were passed among the guests for closer inspection.

Mrs. Mather, in addition to introducing the guests to the program, called attention during a short business interval, to the next Southern Council meeting of D. A. R. This will be a luncheon program on November 15 in Los Angeles Elks Club, and will feature as speaker, James Mussatti on "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address." Members wishing to attend the meeting should make reservations with Mrs. Mather, 688, not later than Friday.

The unusually large attendance of Daughters present, welcomed as the evening's guests in addition to Miss Proctor and Mr. Stephenson, the Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Kirkes of Laguna Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Garrett, Dr. Ada K. Henry, and Messrs. A. J. McFadden, Dr. Mather, Jesse Albright, H. W. Guthrie, W. D. Miller, J. H. Morningstar, W. D. Guthrie, Mac Robbins and J. H. Nicholson.

Sewing Group Spends Pleasant Afternoon

As hostess at the latest meeting of Gab and Stitch club, Mrs. Emily Pyle received members for a 1 o'clock dessert course in her home, 529 South Van Ness avenue. She had arranged places at the dining room table, where the guests enjoyed the social arrangements of tiny chrysanthemums as an accompaniment to the refreshments.

A birthday cake, glittering with candles, was placed before Mrs. C. E. Treat in observance of her November natal date, and she cut the cake to be served with other dainties. There was also the club gift of a pretty casserole for Mrs. Treat.

The afternoon of needlework and lively conversation which gives the club its name, was staged amidst the many handsome big chrysanthemums which Mrs. Pyle used about her home. Mrs. C. W. Hannah invited the group to meet with her at 410 Cypress avenue, on the next meeting date, December 2. Mrs. Pyle's guests were Mesdames C. W. Hannah, Errol Barnes, Max Carter, W. P. Plummer, William Kintz, C. E. Treat and Oscar Kurtz.

Tri-Y Group Enjoys Program on Japan

With Miss Lily Yoshimi as their speaker, Tri-Y Girl Reserves last night learned all sorts of interesting things about Japan when they met in the Y. W. clubrooms under leadership of Miss LaVon Gold. Miss Yoshimi told about the graceful native costumes, and the heavy silk of their material; she described the quaint dolls, each clothed according to the people of some particular section; and talked on the art of flower arrangement so well expressed by the country in telling of trips through Japan. She described Tokyo, Yokohama and other cities, discussing shrines, hot springs, and the Imperial palace. She gave some time for the foods of Japan as well, telling of the use of chopsticks, and before closing her interesting talk, told of her stay in the Hawaiian Islands.

The girls were led in group singing by Miss Betty Neff, after which Mildred Decker of Candyland, told of the sales plan whereby the Tri-Y members will add to their treasury. Before members adjourned, they enjoyed a game on popular songs introduced by Miss Shirley Mattonson, and refreshments planned by Miss Mary Pulver.

Supper Party Follows Christening Of William D. Curran

Christening of Master William Dwight Curran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curran Jr. Sunday afternoon at St. Joseph church was followed by a supper party at which Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mead Jr. entertained in their home, 1201 South Parton street.

The Rev. Father Francis O'Brien conducted the christening rites, for which the baby's aunt and uncle, Miss Catherine Curran and Frank Mead Jr. were godparents. William Dwight was the long christening robe trimmed in valenciennes lace, which had been worn by other babies in the family. His mother and her sister and brother, Mrs. Thomas Geoghegan Jr. and Frank F. Mead Jr. were the first three to wear the robe; while the little lady's cousins, Patsy, Calvin and Frank Mead III are members of the present younger generation who have worn it.

Continuing to the home of the Frank Meads Jr., guests found a setting of blue delphiniums and pink sweet peas especially effective. Flowers in the same colors were in cradle containers centering each of the small tables where supper was served.

In the party with the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Mead and their three children, Patsy, Calvin and Frank Mead III were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curran Jr. and their baby; Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mead and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curran, grandparents of William Dwight; the Rev. Father J. W. Meehan and the Misses Catherine, Frances and Aileen Curran.

Home Movies Shown At Informal Affair

Home movies were shown last night when Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Whittam assembled a little group of guests in their home, 1131 South Parton street. The hosts' little daughter, Julia Ann, figured in many of the scenes.

After the pictures had been shown, Chinese checkers were played. Mrs. Whittam served coffee and pumpkin pie frosted with whipped cream.

In the group with the hosts and Julia Ann were Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Whittam, Mr. and Mrs. George Peterson and son, Dean; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wyckoff, Mr. and Mrs. William Fritchler and little Miss Mary Virginia Wolf. Mrs. Virginia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolf of Hollywood is visiting this week in the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wyckoff, who live on Normandy Place.

Royal Neighbors

Gold State Luncheon club members held their November meeting in the home of Mrs. Enola Morse, 333 Garden Grove avenue in Garden Grove, where Mrs. Pearl Garr was co-hostess with Mrs. Morse. They served covered-dish luncheon at noon.

Chinese checkers and cards were played during the afternoon, which was shared by Mesdames Hart Pennington, Nana Knox, Freda Anderson, Neva Weick, Minnie Norman, Myrtle Underwood, Della Bush, Vera Pope, Maxie Wilson, Agnes Nelson, Trina Johnson, Marianna Johnson, Annie Trueblood, Bess Hefke, Ruth Luhmann, Louise Berger, Viola Adams, Jennie Tulene, Pearl Garr and Enola Morse, members; with Mattie Hutchins, Orange; Alice Morse and Elizabeth Morse, Santa Ana; Wanda Watson, Alhambra, guests.

Next meeting will be held Friday, December 2 in the home of Mrs. Tulene, 1216 King street.

INTERESTING GUESTS

Interesting guests in the home of Mrs. John McFadden and the Misses Ada and Mabel McFadden, 906 North Main street over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Klein, and daughter, and son, Ruth and Karl Otto Klein, of Hankow, China.

The visitors are in the Southland for a short stay before departing for China, where Mr. Klein, former classmate of Miss Ada McFadden at Pomona College, attended Women's Medical College in Pennsylvania, then going to China to begin her practice. Miss Ruth Klein has just completed studies in Germany.

With Miss Lily Yoshimi as their speaker, Tri-Y Girl Reserves last night learned all sorts of interesting things about Japan when they met in the Y. W. clubrooms under leadership of Miss LaVon Gold. Miss Yoshimi told about the graceful native costumes, and the heavy silk of their material; she described the quaint dolls, each clothed according to the people of some particular section; and talked on the art of flower arrangement so well expressed by the country in telling of trips through Japan. ## Gift Shower Climaxes With Wedding As Surprise to Guests

When almost two score guests gathered late last week in the Pacific Palisades home of Mrs. E. E. Hale, they were prepared with gift packages, to stage a miscellaneous shower for Miss Ruth Beach of Anaheim, fiancée of Allan Butler of La Habra.

But no one was prepared for the actual events of the evening which climaxed the gift shower. For as the guests were gathered in friendly intimacy, they were amazed to hear the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, and to see the lights lowered and candles begin to twinkle.

The significance of flower decorations and an aisle of chrysanthemums and gladiolus sprays against a fern background, became apparent. For Miss Beach and Mr. Butler took their places at this charming altar arrangement, and exchanged wedding vows before an old family friend, Judge William McKay of the Los Angeles municipal court.

R. J. Beach of Anaheim was present to give his daughter in marriage. The latter made a charming bride in her costume of teal blue with a corsage of orchids. Later she added a smart black coat, hat, gloves and shoes and was ready for departure on a Southland honeymoon.

Mrs. Hale had everything in readiness for serving wedding refreshments including a bride's cake with its doves and orange blossoms, to be cut by the new Mrs. Butler. The bride is a graduate of Anaheim high school and University of California.

Allan Butler, the son of Mrs. Mabel Butler of La Habra, graduated from Fullerton high school and Whittier college, and is now teaching in the La Habra schools. A home at 415 Greenwood avenue, La Habra, is in readiness for the young couple when they return from their honeymoon.

DINNER AND BRIDGE

Members of an intimate little group who meet at intervals for an evening of bridge, shared a special hospitality Saturday night when their hostess, Miss Artie Cleaveland, invited them to dine at Danis in advance of the evening's play.

She had planned a pleasant affair on the autumn theme, and at the conclusion of the dinner hour, was privileged to entertain at bridge in the home of Miss Bernice Hart, 616 West Fourth street. In the party with Miss Cleaveland were the Misses Bernice Hart, Henrietta Foster, Minnie Hasty, Emma Hasty, Mabel Wiseman, Maude Wherry and Jeanette Wherry.

GILBERT STROSCHEIN

Master Gilbert Theodore Stroschein made his arrival Saturday night at St. Joseph hospital, bringing happiness to his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Stroschein, 922 Freeman street.

The new arrival bears the family name of his mother, the former Miss Hazel Gilbert, daughter of the Oscar Gilberts of San Juan Capistrano. The baby drew the name "Theodore" from his father who was given that middle name because of the great admiration which his late father held for Theodore Roosevelt.

Mrs. Frederica Stroschein of San Juan Capistrano is the parental grandmother of Gilbert Theodore, who weighs seven pounds and two ounces. His parents are prominent in the younger social set, and Mrs. Stroschein is active in Junior Ebell.

Three Chapters Meet For Interesting Programs

DI chapter members of P. E. O. Sisterhood were agreed that no lovelier setting could be desired for an autumn meeting of their group, than that afforded yesterday by the ranch home of Mrs. M. L. Forcey on East First street, Tustin.

Mrs. Forcey was joined by Mrs. O. Scott McFarland and Mrs. Warren Brakeman in receiving the members, and in serving a tempting luncheon on prettily decorated trays. Mrs. S. W. Nau, chapter president, was in charge of the afternoon luncheon program.

With "Sports" as her subject, Mrs. Angus J. Cruickshank provided a paper that was as entertaining as it was instructive. She had delved far into the past to trace the always prevailing interest in sports from the days of early Rome and Sparta to the present. Leading interest to her comprehensive paper, was the fact that her daughter, Miss Josephine Cruickshank, is a leading example of present-day sports among women, and as one of the fine tennis players of the west coast, was a member a few years ago of the United States Wightman Cup Team playing at Wimbledon in England.

Chapter GJ of Los Angeles, P. E. O. state organizer, met with officers of chapter GJ Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. R. R. Caldwell, East First street, Tustin.

After inspection of the books had taken place the group went to the home of Mrs. W. S. Thomson on East First street for luncheon and a meeting. White chrysanthemums and other flowers were used in decorating.

Annual guest day was observed by the chapter Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Webster, Costa Mesa, where Mrs. Sidney Davidson was co-hostess. Mrs. Maurice Enderle reviewed "And Tell of Time" by Laura Krey. Mrs. R. G. Miller of Huntington Beach played piano solos. Tea was served by Mrs. Webster and Mrs. Davidson.

Chapter AB of Mrs. Charles C. Brisco and Mrs. Georgia Bradley received members of chapter AB yesterday afternoon in Mrs. Brisco's home, 421 East Bishop street. Salad luncheon was served in advance of other features.

Mrs. Loren Mead spoke on China. A business meeting was a concluding event.

Others elected were Edith Hancock, associate matron; Herbert Allen, associate patron; Nell D. Winslow, secretary; Edith Snow, treasurer; Vada Berry, conductress; Myrtle Cave, associate conductress; Jannette Terwilliger, trustee.

A. McChristy, 339 West Seventeenth street and Jesse Newton Clay, son of Mrs. Pearl Snyder of Stockton.

In addition to pre-nuptial affairs given in El Centro were events in this city, with the bride as honoree at a shower given by the Misses Evelyn Rihards and Jean McBurney; and another event which Baptist Young People attended in the home of Miss Claudine Minter.

Miss Helen Wiesseman's guests at a bridge party Saturday afternoon were received in the charming home at 3417 North Park boulevard of which she and her mother, Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman, so recently took possession.

Adding to the beauty of the rooms were chrysanthemums and Mexican sunflowers provided by Mrs. Harry Spencer and Mrs. E. B. Sprague. Wine, bronze and gold were the colors predominant in the decorations.

Fruit in a burgundy bowl was on the dining room table, while pottery rings on circles of autumn leaves centered small tables. One of these effective arrangements was completed with wine-hued flowers and yellow nutcups; another table was adorned with rust-toned flowers; the third table was in bronze, and the fourth, in yellow. Tallies were in corresponding tones.

THINKING OUT LOUD

This is final and official. The Santa Ana-Chaffey grid game will be played in the Municipal Bowl Friday NIGHT and NOT in the afternoon, as originally scheduled. There are two reasons: (1) Ontario has an Armistice celebration in the afternoon and (2) the Orange County Armistice Day celebration will be held in Orange, with a game in the afternoon between Orange and Huntington Beach high schools. The jayvees want no conflicts.

The bugle and drum corps of Santa Ana post No. 131, American Legion, will operate on the field between halves of the Don-Chaffey contest. Tickets, selling at 40 cents, went on sale here today at A's Lock and Key shop and T. J. Neal's. Since all downtown stores will be closed Friday, it behooves you to buy your duets tomorrow or Thursday. It also is well to remember that a tremendous crowd will come to Santa Ana for this game. It may not mean much to the Dons, who are out of the race, but Chaffey is undefeated and the Santa Ana struggle makes or breaks the hard-hitting Panthers.

Fullerton's proposed entry into the Citrus Belt League, suggested at last night's junior college conference meeting, will embarrass the Santa Ana and Fullerton broke inter-scholastic relations after last year's riot, mutually agreeing that it just wasn't possible for them to get along in football because of the physical danger. If Fullerton makes the C.B.L., the schedule would call for the Indians and the Saints to play again.

Hamilton H. Cotton's La Brea stable will soon be back on the turf "bigger and better than ever before." The San Clemente bigwig is assembling horses for a grand return. Cotton at one time raced a standard stable, owned such as Sweeping Away, Sunspore, American Son, Elector, Sany Man, Listo and Seguro.

The tip is out that Santa Barbara has another tough football team. When the Vaqueros played at Fullerton last week, more than a dozen coaches from various leading Southern California high schools were there to scout 'em. They figured they might have to meet Santa Barbara in the Southern California prep playoffs.

Lloyd Bishop, one-time Fullerton junior college athlete, is now coaching at National City. Although pressed for time, James Roy Smith, Fullerton high school and district junior college aquatic mentor, has found it possible to take over the coaching reins of the L.A.A.C. tank team and become a member of the National A.A.U. water polo committee. Paul Collins, former California natator, is assisting Smith with the Fullerton splashes.

"Wee-Willie" Jones of Placentia is setting a fast pace for the Fullerton Firemen by hitting .455 for the season. His brother, Delbert, and Big Frank Horngrove, also of Placentia, who have major league aspirations cannot equal Wee-Willie's mark.

The kid turned down several minor league contracts after Los Angeles failed to "see" him last spring. Francis Lemon, head man of the Fullerton baseball interests, believes that Hubert McConnell, 17-year-old junior collegian from Brea-Glinda, has major league possibilities as a catcher.

Placentia's Jones brothers — Del, Wee-Willie, Frank and Bob — have gone horse. Each member of this athletic family owns a horse and have become keenly interested in racing. Joe Noutary, Fullerton's high school's driving back, was cut from the squad for failing to obey strict rules laid down by Coach Frank Williamson. The former U. S. C. linesman believes in strict discipline.

Glen (Little Ark) Vaughan has returned to Fullerton after herding sheep on his brother's Potter valley ranch. He still wants to be a baseball player. Arkey incidentally, made a thousand dollars more than Manager "Pie" Traynor last year and is in line for a substantial increase this year. He'll be a holdout again.

TRAJAN SQUAD OFF TOMORROW ON HOP NORTH

(By UNITED PRESS)
LOS ANGELES — U. S. C. regulars dug in at practice today after a day off yesterday earned by the California victory. Coach Howard Jones didn't even have them report to the field yesterday, while he worked over the army of reserves who haven't seen much action lately. He takes 37 Trojans north tomorrow to play Washington.

LOS ANGELES — In good shape after the easy Washington State victory, the U.C.L.A. Bruins drilled today in preparation for an inter-sectional game with Wisconsin here Saturday. As against the Cougars, it appeared likely that the Bruins' sparkplug, Ken Washington, would start off the game but will be sent in later to relieve Charlie Fenwick.

LOS ANGELES — Coach Tom Lieb of Loyola rigged up a four-man line and seven-man backfield for defense today in hopes of stopping Baylor's passes Friday night. Texas Christian smothered the Bears with this freak line-up, so Lieb is trying it—with his fingers crossed against the chance of his Lions being run off their feet.

BERKELEY — California's battered Bears, smarting under last week-end's defeat by USC, prepared today to take it out on Oregon's Webfoot. Coach "Stub" Allison said that the lineup used against USC would remain unchanged, except that Ray Rosso, stubby 185-pounder, will shift to left guard.

PALO ALTO — Coach "Tiny" Thornhill today planned several shifts in Stanford's backfield and a light week of practice as the Cardinals mapped strategy for Saturday's encounter with Oregon State at Corvallis. Bill Paulman will go from quarter to fullback. Jack Brainer moves back to left half. Norman Standler goes to quarter and Hugh Gallarneau will go to right half.

FRESNO — The Fresno State Bulldogs, unceremoniously dumped from the ranks of the undefeated by College of Pacific, returned to work with a vengeance today in preparation for the Armistice Day battle with the strong University of San Francisco Dons.

GALENTO TO 'FORCE' LOUIS INTO MATCH

ORANGE, N. J.—(UP)—Tony Galento, the National Boxing association's No. 1 heavyweight challenger, announced today that he would use "pressure" to force Joe Louis to give him a title fight.

Galento and his manager, Joe Jacobs, will go to Washington tomorrow post a $5000 appearance guarantee and an official challenge with N. B. A. Secretary Helnie Miller. Jacobs said they would leave Miller another $5000 as a side bet that Galento could lick Louis anytime anywhere. "If Louis doesn't accept the challenge within a reasonable length of time, he may wake up some fine morning to find the N. B. A. has vacated his title," Jacobs added.

Galento and Jacobs decided upon this move after Louis signed to give Light Heavy Champ John Henry Lewis a shot at the title in January. Galento is fighting Harry Thorne in Philadelphia Monday night, and it had been understood, before the January title bout was made, that the winner would fight Lewis in Atlantic City in February.

HARBOR SPEEDER FRED.

VANCOUVER, B. C. (UP)—Joe Sander was fined $10 and costs here for speeding in a boat. Harbor officials said Sander began racing in the harbor in his motorboat, endangering other craft and almost colliding with a rowboat.

Gold Cup Craft To Race At Bay Sunday

NEWPORT — Balboa-Vanguard of the motorboat racing host which will storm this Southland racing center Sunday began arriving at Newport bay today.

Three Gold Cup races, possibly four, and at least eight 225-class speedsters will be out to win the third leg on the Pacific Motor Boat trophy in three 15-mile heats that bid to be rough-shod chases. The racing is under auspices of California Yacht club and starts at 12:30 Sunday.

Defending champion, and only winner of the trophy inscription to date, is Danny Arena's Gold Cup boat from the north, Miss Golden Gate. Lou Fagel's So Long, a lighter hulled boat than the one which injured him in a sensational spill July 4 on Lake Tahoe, is paired with Art Bobrick's El Torbellino, a Southland boat most likely to take the San Francisco nemesis.

BACA WANNER OF DULL BOAT

Fernie Baca added another win to his collection by outpointing Joe Rock in the main event of last night's boxing show at the Orange County Athletic club.

Although speedy, it was strictly a boxing bout and failed to cause any great commotion among the cash customers who had a chip on their shoulders and wanted Referee Reg Gilmore's scalp on account of a sour decision after the previous battle. Baca outpointed Rock in all four rounds but neither boy ever received a blow hard enough to muss up his hair.

In the first half of the double main event, Wayne Penn and Tino Sanchez, ex-Diamond Belt champion, smacked each other with more leather than an alley cat has claws. Penn was given the decision by the judges after Sanchez had dropped Penn twice in the fourth round. The fans disagreed and went berserk, blaming the referee and setting up such a howl that it was impossible to announce the main event. The Penn-Sanchez affair would have been a draw in a professional fight but draws are not allowed among the amateurs.

Frietas Lambasts Laws

Johnny Frietas gave "Chuck" Laws the lambasting of his young life, battering him around the ring and knocking him clear through the ropes on one occasion.

John Taylor, Central avenue battler, battered Paul Garcia hither and yon to take an easy decision. Garcia went down in the second yelling "foul" but the referee thought differently. Taylor came back with a haymaker and dropped Garcia for a nine-count in the third and then used him for a punching bag.

The fight of the evening was between "Pee-Wee" Davis, one of Central avenue's blackest, and Gil Lopez, with Davis getting a judges' decision that was too close for comfort. Davis, who hits like a nine count, floored Lopez for a nine count in the first round and then gave him a boxing lesson in the second. They stood toe to toe and slugged it out in the third and fourth, putting up one of the most vicious bouts the fans have seen here in many a day.

Benny Garcia forced "Chuck" Wilcox to resign with a series of rights and lefts to the whiskers in the first. Gene Penn, Wayne's kid brother, flattened Rudy Brady in the fourth after knocking him for three spinners in the second and third, and Buddy Spencer outpointed Pancho Rodriguez.

TREESWEET CAGERS TAKE LEAD AT 'Y'

Holding the T. J. Neal quintet to five points during the second half, Treesweet Cagers came from behind to win 28-25 and Santa Ana "Y" Basketball league last night. In a preliminary game, Famous Department store staged a second half rally of their own to nip the Southern Counties Gas company, 21-18.

Larry Barnhart, Treesweet guard, paced his teammates into the league leadership by hitting the lace for 11 points. Pete Partida was high for Famous with 14. Tomorrow night's schedule pits Barr Lumber company with Patterson's Dairy at 7:30. The crack Irvine team clashes with A's Lock and Key shop at 8:30. Lineups.

DONS' INJURED TACKLES MAY FACE CHAFFEY

Encouraged by the fact that both Cy Leivermann and Gil Nehrig, first string tackles, might return to the Don lineup against Chaffey Friday night, Coaches Bill Cook and John Ward set out in earnest today to prepare for the invasion of the powerful Panthers.

Don battle plans consist mainly of getting the big Red and Black squad in top physical condition. The two Don coaches sent their large squad through a strenuous leg-conditioning drill yesterday. The program consisted of an hour of wind sprints, dummy scrimmage and blocking and tackling practice.

Nehrig, who had wrenched his knee so badly in the Riverside game that he was thought to be out for two weeks, showed up for practice and insisted he was ready to play. Leivermann has a broken hand but the Don coaches hold out hope to Coaches Cook and Ward that they might be able to patch up some kind of a cast that will protect the giant Don.

COAST LEAGUE ACTS ON 1939 SCHEDULE

LOS ANGELES—(UP)—The game schedule which drew many complaints last season will be threshed out at the annual meeting of Pacific Coast baseball league directors in San Francisco Thursday and Friday.

Besides drawing up the schedule the directors will decide whether to retain the three-year-old Shaughnessy play-off plan or return to the old double season. Presidents Victor Collins and Charles A. Baum of the Hollywood and San Diego clubs will be elected directors. Branch Rickey

Football Dove Flies To Auburn, Louisiana

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

ATLANTA, Ga.—Just when it seemed that the combined efforts of the National Labor Relations board and Emily Post would be needed to restore harmony to two Southern football squads, the doves of peace flew from their cote on the goalposts and settled lightly on the campuses of L. S. U. and Alabama Polytechnic institute.

In almost simultaneous reports from Baton Rouge and Auburn, word came that young Bussey, the John L. Lewis of the halfbacks, had been reinstated at L. S. U. and that Max Harrison and Stencil Whitley, the sensitive ends, had returned to the Auburn fold.

Young Bussey is the L. S. U. halfback who was dropped from the squad when he couldn't decide between picketing and passing. Fast as he was, Bussey could not get through a hole in the line because he was wearing a sandwich board reading: "L. S. U. is unfair to unorganized halfbacks." He wanted football players to organize. It was his boyhood dream. In his high school days in Houston he agitated for closer cooperation between the box office and the end zone. He was discharged from the L. S. U. squad when it was feared that he planned to demand a four-game schedule, an 80-yard playing field, Homer Martin as backfield coach, $30 every Thursday, and social security numbers on players' jerseys instead of the regular numerals.

Now he is back, and there is a report going around that he is a full member of the Liberty league and will be one of the "eleven old men" who will face Tulane in L. S. U.'s big game of the year.

Stencil Whitley and Max Harrison are the young men who deserted the Auburn football team because Coach Jack Meagher spoke brusquely to them. Hurt to the quick (kick) these two stole away from Auburn at 8 p. m. when the entire village was wrapped in slumber, and wandered like lost souls through Opelika, Salem, Blecker, Motts, Gold Ridge, Boy's Tank, Weddowee, Hatchchucker, Paratts, and White Oak Springs.

Traveling first class thumbs they arrived at Birmingham in time for the Tulane-Alabama game last Saturday, at the time their own team was

Meet The Dons!

Rated by no less an authority than Coach Bill Cook as one of the ablest freshman players on Santa Ana jayvee's squad is Gilbert (Gib) Bristow, above, who was operated on for appendicitis Saturday night. Bristow was an all-Orange county league timber for two years. A center who weighs 175 pounds, Bristow probably will be No. 1 man at that position next season.

WILLOWICK IN SURPRISE WIN

Unexpected winners over a strong Huntington Beach team, Willowick's women golf players moved into first place today in the Public Links association standings. The Santa Ana squad defeated Huntington Beach, 9-3, on the beach team's own course. Two weeks ago, Huntington Beach decisively defeated Willowick here.

Summary:
Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth and Mrs. C. H. Chapman (W) 21-2 points; Mrs. Harry Bakke and Mrs. J. K. McDonald (HB) 1-2;
Mrs. Pearl Adams and Mrs. H. A. Bradley (W) 3; Mrs. Jerry Sheue and Mrs. T. Cuff (HB) 0-7;

DE LA JAYSEE GRID CARD FOR PREP PROBLEM

Hints that Fullerton high school will petition the C.B.L. to transfer it from the Poothill to the Citrus Belt league (with which Santa Ana is now affiliated) were dropped at last night's meeting of Eastern Junior College conference administrators who met at Ontario to consider their 1939 football schedules.

Fullerton officials were known to be dissatisfied with the set-up in the Poothill division but the fact that they had in mind a C.B.L. allegiance came as a surprise to most.

The leak came when the junior colleges were requested to delay adopting a '39 grid schedule until such time as Fullerton's high school problem was decided. If Fullerton goes into the C.B.L. efforts will be made to avoid schedule conflicts. In other words, Fullerton's prep team would play at home only when the jayvee was traveling, and vice versa.

However, the jayvee conference did go far enough in its 1939 schedule to set October 6 as the night for first league games. Baseball practice will be allowed on the first Monday after Thanksgiving Day. The old rule called for training only after December 1.

A recommendation of coaches that ball teams play a double road of seven-inning games on school days (Tuesdays and Fridays) was turned down. So baseball will continue to be played only Saturday afternoons.

No action was taken on a coaches' recommendation that home teams in football keep all game receipts rather than split 50-50 under the present system.

CHAFFEY PLAYERS HOLD SCORING LEAD

Kobi Shoji, sensational Japanese halfback for Coach Heiser's Panther eleven, continues to pace the field. Last week he added one touchdown to run his point total to 30 digits. Shoji's teammate Les Terry remained in second place by scoring once against Fullerton.

HANEY FOURTH NEW BIG LEAGUE LEADER

NEW YORK—(UP)—The major leagues' 1939 managerial roster was complete today with the signing of Fred Haney as pilot of the St. Louis Browns.

Haney, former infielder with Detroit and Boston in the American and St. Louis in the National, was plucked from the managership of the Toledo Mud Hens in the American association to take the helm of the Browns.

Replacing the deposed "Gabby" Street, Haney is the fourth new manager to be named since the baseball season ended, and it was the sixth managerial change made since mid-season.

"Gabby" Hartnett succeeded Charley Grimm of the Chicago Cubs and Del Baker replaced Mickey Cochrane of Detroit's Tigers before the season ended. Thompson (Doc) Prothro came from Little Rock, Ark., of the Southern association to the Philadelphia Phillies when Jimmy Wills was ousted. Shortstop Leo Durocher of Brooklyn was selected to replace Burrell Grimes with the Dodgers.

The PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

ANN ARBOR — Several things contributed to Michigan's football renaissance, but a vital factor in the success of all Herbert Orin Crisler's preparation was the presence of sophomore backs to carry out offensive thrusts.

Paul Kromer's speed combined with his poise made him an early standout.

Tom Harmon rapidly moved along to the place which had been predicted for him. Harmon is a slippery running back with as many tricks as any first-year varsity man to represent Ann Arbor. He possesses courage, a willingness to block hard, passing ability, and defensive qualities.

The quarterbacks, Forest Evashevski, a transformed center, and Jack Meyer, proved themselves admirable field generals, blockers of unusual worth, and fine defensive players.

The fullbacks, Howard McHaffey and Ed Christy, stood up.

This sophomore group of backs was termed the best to report at Michigan in many years, and let nobles down. It more than compensates for the loss of Doug Farmer, Stark Ritchie and Bill Barclay.

Crisler Talks of Victory to Erase Defeatist Habits

Michigan had no scoring punch in 1937. Heartbreaking failures in that department may have accounted for d.fensive lapses, for on the whole individual defensive play was strong. But there was a total absence of poise and self-confidence engendered by three years in the rut. It amounted to a virtual defeatist complex. There was a lack of co-ordination between potentially strong linemen and potentially great backs. Timing was off.

Fritz Crisler moved in from Princeton at an opportune time. In addition to the brilliant and bumper sophomore crop, a minimum of losses by graduation returned almost the same personnel as last fall . . . including the identical line.

Crisler asserted as his major problem when he arrived, "to get back in the league." The defeatist habits of four years had to be erased, and Crisler, the master psychologist, made that the keynote of his program.

To that end he left no room for doubt as to the potential abilities of his squad, to be realized with big dividends after months of hard work.

Long Drills Bring Precision, Use No More Than 55 Plays

Crisler's initial spring practice was one of the more satisfactory in Wolverine history. With application the program's keynote throughout, the squad responded to reach new heights in fundamentals. Poise and self-confidence were restored by the simple formula of hard work.

HOLD EVERYTHING!

"Pardon me, madam, but I think you'll have more luck with the soup if you use a spoon instead of the chop sticks."

BAR PLACED ON LICENSE COVER

Accessories on motor vehicles which interfere with the legibility of license number plates must be removed or motorists will be tagged by traffic officers, Capt. H. C. Meehan of the California highway patrol warned today.

Unless license plates are easily read on moving vehicles, he pointed out, the work of all police agencies in the state is severely hampered in their lookout for thieves, crooks and escaping convicts who use motor vehicles.

Urgent Requests
This difficulty of readily picking out cars on the highways extends even further, it is pointed out, as daily the traffic officers of the state receive many urgent requests to locate some motorist on the highways due to an emergency in his home.

"Police generally are handicapped by the increasing practice of motorists placing bumper guards and other accessories in front of their number plates," said Capt. Meehan. "There is no law against the use of such things unless they are placed where they interfere with the legibility of license plates. Everyone should realize it is their duty as a good citizen to help police in apprehending crooks and in locating relatives. They can contribute their part by keeping their license plates free of dirt and any obstruction."

Californian May Get Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 8.—(UP)—It was reported today but not confirmed that either Ernest Orlando Lawrence, professor of physics of the University of California, or Enrico Fermi of Rome would be the likely recipient of the Nobel prize in physics, to be awarded Nov. 10.

Prof. Lawrence is 37. Born at Canton, S. Dak., he studied at St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., then attended the University of Minnesota, the University of South Dakota, Chicago University and Yale. He has degrees from Minnesota, South Dakota, Yale, Princeton and Stevens Institute of Technology.

First at Yale as native research fellow and then assistant professor of physics, he went to California in 1923, to become first assistant professor of physics, then associate professor and finally professor. He had been also director of the uni-

m. The only country in the world which censors pictures on a basis of artistic merit is Latvia—and how C. B. De Mille burned when the Letts banned "The Buccaneers" for lack of it! Michael Whalen was doing household chores for his room and board when Twentieth-Century-Fox gave him his contract.

Hollywood's various casting agencies list a total of 6000 ex-soldiers, of all nationalities, who are available for extra work. The first motion picture in the United States opened in Denver, Colorado, in October, 1898. Come to think about it, I've never seen Slim Summerville at a preview. Singing stars' voices are better on-screen than off—sound experts dial out their poorer notes. The ice cream you see actors eating isn't ice cream at all—it's mashed potato.

The oddest servant-master relationship I've ever encountered exists between Arthur Treacher and his combination butler-chauffeur, Walter Adams. Mr. Adams is an individualist who refuses to be humbled by either Mr. Treacher's stardom or his own dependent position. Characteristic of his entire attitude is his habit of addressing his boss as "Boy Scout." And even more characteristic is the anecdote told me today by Treacher who, fortunately, has a sense of humor. Seems that he (Treacher) was spending a day-off toiling in the garden of his new Encino mansion, now half-finished. Adams called for him at 5 p. m., took one look at his muddy overalls and snorted, "You don't ride in this car like that!" And without another word drove back to the present Treacher abode. And the "Boy Scout" waited a good half hour until Adams returned with his own battered jalopy.

Visiting on the "Herculoid" set, I found Grace Allen strumming a ukelele—and doing a masterly job of it. "Is it hard to learn?" I asked and she grinned like a Cheshire Cat. "Dead easy," she said. "You just scratch your stomach rhythmically—then insert the uke!" Copyright, 1938, McNaught Syn., Inc.

End Long Trip Down Colorado

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 8.—(UP)—Buzz Holstrom of Coquille, Ore., first man to make a solo trip down the hazardous Colorado river, completed his second trip today in company with Amos Burg and Willis Johnson.

The trio reached the upper reaches of Lake Mead last night and were brought to Boulder Dam in motor boats today. Holstrom brought word that Jack Aldredge, who left Green River, Utah, two months ago, on a similar trip, probably had perished. His broken boat was found above Bright Angel.

FIFTY-FOOT FALL LUCKY
JOGGINS, N. S., (UP)—Ernest Ryan fell down a 50-foot cliff here and was only slightly injured. He landed on a pile of sand, a few inches from a pile of jagged rocks.

Conduct Funeral Of Floyd J. Jones

COSTA MESA, Nov. 8.—Funeral services for Floyd Jennings Jones, who was injured in an automobile accident last week, were held yesterday afternoon from the Dixon-Grauel Funeral chapel. Death occurred Friday at the Santa Ana valley hospital. Interment was in Fairhaven cemetery. Jones, who was 42 years of age, was an auto mechanic and former resident of the harbor area.

Survivors are his mother, Mrs. A. E. Jones; the widow, Mrs. My-nie V. Jones; two sons, Floyd and Wayne; two daughters, Barbara and Doris; five brothers, Joseph J., of Los Angeles; William H. of Huntington Beach; Oliver and Max, both of Berkeley, and Perry of Hollywood, and two sisters, Daisy and Gladys, of Huntington Beach.
